Today's Feature

6 Nelson Welch

Nelson Welch has had an active last couple of months. In addition to preparing for his senior year, Welch got married and received his undergraduate degree. Here is a feature about Clemson's star kicker who is the son of a former television star.

39 Mother-of-the-Year

Louise Long, mother of four men with Clemson degrees, is this year's Clemson Mother of the Year as honored by Tiger Brotherhood.

49 James Earle

Clemson's tight ends coach is the only member of the current staff who also played for the Tigers. Earle was the leading tackler for Clemson in 1987, a key reason the Tigers were 10-2 that year. As a player Earle tackled tight ends, now he teaches tight ends how to avoid linebackers.

51 Will Young

The youngster of Clemson's offensive line of 1993 is now the veteran of 1994. Will Young is a native of Clemson who has been coming to Clemson games since he was a youngster. His grandfather was a starter on Clemson's first bowl team.

61 Ellis Johnson

Clemson's outside linebacker coach had to battle cancer over the last year. The illness and therapy certainly caused Johnson problems, but there were some benefits, including his respect level from his players.

73 Phil Prince

This former Tiger griddier is now acting President of Clemson University. Turn to page 73 for an interview with this former Clemson Medallion winner who has served Clemson in many capacities.

76 Tigers in the NFL

Clemson had 21 players on opening day NFL rosters, one of the top 15 totals in the nation. The former Tigers range from rookie defensive tackle Brentson Buckner to 10-year veteran defender William Perry.

79 Eddie Cochems

Eddie Cochems might not rank in the same coaching fraternity with former Tigers Frank Howard and John Heisman, but Cochems is a former Clemson coach who is now officially credited with calling the first forward pass in a college football game in 1906.

Today's Program features a record setting kicker, an interview with Clemson's Acting President, a review of the careers of Tigers in the NFL and a former Clemson coach whose team threw the first college forward pass.

111 Tiger Volleyball

Coach Jolene Hoover took the Lady Tigers to their first ever NCAA Tournament appearance last year. Now, after a 12-0 start, her team has designs on conference titles, national rankings and post-season tournament victories.

112 Bob Smith

The Clemson athletic family suffered a great loss four weeks ago with the passing of Coach Bob Smith. The affable line coach under Frank Howard is one of the few athletic figures in history to be inducted in both the Clemson and Furman Halls of Fame.

On the Cover: Nelson Welch, who recently received his Clemson undergraduate degree from Acting President Phil Prince, is challenging all the Clemson and ACC kicking records in this his senior year. His favorite team over the years has been Maryland, who has seen Welch make 10 field goals in three years. Prince is a former Tiger griddier who has answered the call of his alma mater many times over the years. Now he has the ultimate assignment as Acting President.

Clemson Second in Nation in Turnover Margin

Clemson is tied for second in the nation in turnover margin according to the latest NCAA stats. A key to this stat is Clemson's ability to force turnovers. Clemson opponents have had 12 turnovers already this year, an average of 4.0 per game. Clemson has committed just four turnovers and thus has a +8 turnover margin, or a +2.67 turnover margin per game.

Clemson is on a record pace in terms of forcing turnovers. The 1943 Clemson team forced 32 turnovers in eight games, an average of 4.0 turnovers per game, the exact average for the Tigers through three games in 1994. The record for the most turnovers forced in a season is 41, set by the 1981 National Championship team for its 12 games.

As far as turnover margin is concerned, the Clemson record for the course of a season is +2.11, set by the 1940 team. The 1989 Clemson team had a +1.82 turnover margin figure and the 1988 team was at +1.75. Both of those teams ranked second in the country in turnover margin, the highest national ranking ever for the Tigers in that category. Clemson was ninth in turnover margin last year with a +1.09.

Tigers Forced Seven Turnovers at Virginia

Clemson forced seven turnovers at Virginia on September 17th, the most turnovers forced by a Clemson defense since 1981. That season the Tigers forced nine turnovers (four fumbles and five interceptions) in a 13-3 victory over Georgia. Nine different Clemson players were involved in the nine takeaways. The seven turnovers forced by the defense at Virginia rank in a tie for fifth highest in Clemson history.

The Tigers lost at Virginia, 9-6, even though the defense recorded the seven takeaways. It was not a record for most takeaways by the Clemson defense in a loss. The Tigers had eight takeaways in a 28-7 loss at Georgia Tech in 1970. Clemson also had seven takeaways in a 14-10 loss at TCU in 1964.

Clemson is tied for second in the nation in forcing turnovers with 12. Southern Mississippi leads the nation with 13 forced turnovers, while Clemson, Baylor and Oregon all have 12.

Carter Gets Three Takeaways

Clemson strong safety Andre Carter had the game of his life against Virginia. The sophomore never had a takeaway in his first 11 games as a Clemson Tiger, then tied a Clemson record with three takeaways against the Cavaliers. Two of the three takeaways denied the Cavs touchdowns, as one of his interceptions and the fumble recovery were made in the shadow of the Clemson goal line.

In the first period, on a second-and-goal from the Clemson five, Carter made an interception of a Symion Willis pass on the goal line and returned it to the five. In the third period, on second-and-seven from the Tiger eight, Carter recovered a fumble at the Virginia two and returned it to the 11 to stop another drive. Finally, in the fourth period, Carter made a diving interception at the Virginia 40.

Carter became just the third player on record to have three takeaways in a game. The first to do it was Kit Jackson, a defensive back who had three interceptions against Wake Forest in 1965, and the only Tiger in history to record three interceptions in one game. In 1978 against Duke, linebacker Randy Scott had an interception and two fumble recoveries in a Tiger victory. Many other players have had two fumble recoveries, or two interceptions, or one of each in the same game, but records do not reveal anyone else with three total takeaways in the same game.

With his two interceptions at Virginia, Carter jumped all the way to 19th in the nation in interceptions per game.

Cross in Double Figures Again

Clemson defensive tackle Marvin Cross had his second consecutive double figure tackle game in the loss at Virginia. Cross was credited with a career high 11 stops, including seven first hits. The junior from Durham, NC also had two pass deflections in the game, the first two PBUs of his career. Cross was a reason Clemson did not allow Virginia to score a point on five different possessions inside the Clemson 20, including twice on first-and-goal situations.

Cross had 10 tackles against N.C. State and became the first Clemson defensive tackle to have double figures in tackles in consecutive games since Brentson Buckner had 10 in consecutive games at midseason last year. Cross is Clemson's number-two tackler for the season with 26 stops and already has exceeded his 1993 season total of 25 tackles. Cross also has four quarterback pressures this year to tie for the team lead.

Cross has posted back to back double figure tackle games.

Maryland has more wins in Death Valley than any other Clemson opponent.

Winslow Has Impressive First Start

Junior linebacker Chuck Winslow made his first career start against Virginia and he responded with 10 tackles and two caused fumbles. Winslow is tied for third on the Tiger team in tackles for the season with 20, quite an improvement over his first two years when he had just three total tackles. Winslow had just 13 career tackles heading into the Virginia game, then had 10 against the Cavs.

Winslow tied a Clemson single game record with two caused fumbles and both took place inside the Tiger 10-yard line. His first caused fumble directly prevented a Virginia touchdown as his helmet knocked the ball out of the hands of Virginia fullback Charles Way on a second-and-goal from the one. He also stripped a Virginia ball carrier in the second half at the five-yard-line.

Winslow is a fine all-around athlete who was an all-state performer for two years on the Green Run High School baseball team in Virginia Beach, VA. Winslow played quarterback and free safety in high school and had 10 touchdown passes his junior year.

Jones Registers Career High

Butkus Award candidate Tim Jones leads the Clemson team in tackles with 35 after three games. The senior had a career high 15 tackles against Virginia and was an important factor in the defense's ability to force five Cavalier turnovers inside the Tigers' redzone. Jones ranked sixth in the ACC in tackles per game and is third in total tackles heading into the games of September 24th.

Jones had his 13th double figure tackle game of his career against the Cavs, his second in three games this year. He had 11 tackles against N.C. State. Jones now has 255 career tackles, including 163 first hits, and ranks 13th in Clemson history in that area. The native of Rock Hill, SC jumped over Gene Beasley (241), Rob Bodine (246), Robert O'Neal (252) and Brentson Buckner (253) with his efforts against Virginia.

Maryland Has 10 Wins in Death Valley

Clemson's opponent today will be Maryland. The Terps have not won at Clemson since 1985, a 34-31 victory, but Maryland still has more wins in Death Valley than any other school. Clemson has an advantage over Maryland in the series of games played at Clemson (11-10), but the 10 total victories are ahead of second place N.C. State (9) and third place Wake Forest (6) and Georgia (6).

Despite the closeness of the series in Death Valley between Clemson and Maryland, the Tigers have outscored the Terps by 164 points in the 21 games played, an average of +7.8 points per game.

Clemson has a record of 181-66-7 over the years in Death Valley, a winning percentage of 72.6 percent. This includes a record of 40-7-1 in Death Valley over the last eight years and 23-4-1 at home in the decade of the 1990s. Clemson has had more than one loss at home just twice since 1980.

Thirty-nine different teams have played Clemson in Death Valley and only three schools who have played Clemson more than once in the facility have a winning record against the Tigers. Auburn (2-4), Alabama (0-2) and Florida State (0-3) are the only teams with an advantage over Clemson in Death Valley, given a minimum of two games played.

Wyatt in Top 20 Nationally

Clemson wide receiver Antwan Wyatt ranks in a tie for 15th in the nation in receptions per game. The sophomore has 16 receptions for 172 yards and a touchdown in the first three games, an average of 5.3 catches per game. He had 13 receptions for the first two games, a record for a Clemson player after the first two games. The previous record was 12 held by Charlie Waters, who was a wide receiver for the Tigers in 1969. Waters also owns the record for receptions per game over the course of a season, 4.9 in 1969. Wyatt is obviously ahead of that record pace after three games.

Wyatt is second on the Clemson team in all-purpose running with 170 yards. He has already far and away exceeded his performance of last year. In 1993 he touched the ball just twice, a 10-yard rush and a seven-yard reception, in his 119 plays of action. Wyatt is the son of former NFL punt returner Alvin Wyatt, who still ranks in the top 10 in Buffalo Bills history in career kickoff return yards and punt return yards.

Clemson in October

While Clemson is 1-2 for September, the month of October is a five-game month for the Tigers and traditionally has been a successful month for the Tigers. Clemson has not had a losing record in October since 1976 and has had just two .500 Octobers over the last 17 years. The Tigers have a 56-13-1 record in October for the last 17 years (since 1977), an 80.7 winning percentage. Clemson was 4-1 in October last year and has had two 5-0 Octobers (1977 and 1981).

Another stat in Clemson's favor is the Tigers 13-2 record the week after an open date since 1977. Clemson has lost just twice since 1977 when it has two weeks to prepare for a regular season game, 1984 at Georgia (26-23) and 1992 at Georgia Tech (20-16). Clemson has not lost at home when it has two weeks to prepare since 1971 when Georgia beat the Tigers in Death Valley after an open date.

Clemson Schedule

After playing each of its first two games at home the Tigers now are on the road for four out of five games. Clemson is in a stretch in which it will play a game in Death Valley just one of 48 days between September 11 and October 29. This is the first time since 1977 that Clemson has played four out of five games on the road. In 1977 Clemson was at home just one game in five between September 17 to October 15. Clemson played five out of six on the road in 1976 and that is the last time Clemson played at home just once in a 48-day stretch. Between September 19 and November 5 that year, 48 days, Clemson had just one home game.

Clemson traveled to Virginia on September 17, then had an open date on the weekend of September 24th. After meeting Maryland at home on October 1, the Tigers will play three straight road games, at Georgia on October 8, at Duke on October 15 and at Florida State on October 22.

One other note about Clemson's schedule concerns its open date. Had Tommy West known this stat he might not have approved the Clemson schedule. The Tigers had an open date on the 24th of September and Clemson is 9-1-1 over the years on that date. That .864 winning percentage is the third highest winning percentage of any date in Clemson football history. The only dates that are better are September 19 (8-0-0) and November 23 (8-1-0).

Clemson has lost two games in a row entering the Maryland game. The Tigers have not lost three in a row since 1985, when it won the opener at Virginia Tech, then lost to Georgia, Georgia Tech and Kentucky before breaking the streak with a victory over Virginia.

Offensive Line Youngest in Clemson History

Clemson lost seven of its top 10 offensive linemen from last year's team, including first-team All-American Stacy Seegars and first-team All-ACC performer Brent LeJeune. This season the Tigers have started two red-shirt freshmen and three juniors on the five interior offensive line position.

Of the five interior offensive linemen who started against Furman, N.C. State and Virginia, only two, Will Young and center Trevor Putnam, had ever played in a game prior to 1994 for the Tigers. Freshmen (OT) Jim Bundren and (OG) Glenn Rountree, and first-year junior college transfer (OT) Dwayne Morgan are all in their first year in varsity competition, yet are starters. Putnam played just 72 career snaps prior to this season.

Between 1978-93, only three offensive linemen served as starters over the course of the season in their first year on the Clemson team. Those three players are Gary Brown (OT, 1979), Eric Harmon (OG, 1987) and Jeb Flesch (OG, 1988). In other words, having just one offensive line starter in his first year of competition a rarity, never mind having three.

Clemson kicker Nelson Welch has lived many dreams and reached numerous goals during his four years at Clemson.

"When we were younger dad would bring Nelson and I to Clemson games," said Turner Welch, Nelson's older brother. "We would sit in the stands and Nelson would dream of playing for the Tigers and running down the Hill. As we got older the dream turned into a goal. He also dreamed and later set a goal of graduating from Clemson too. Now he has lived both dreams, reached both goals. Both are important to him, but there is no doubt that the degree is what he values most."

For Nelson Welch, now taking post graduate classes, the reason that his Clemson degree is more important to him is because it was much harder to obtain than a spot on the Tigers football team.

"My degree did not come easy in high school or college because I have a learning disability," said Welch, Clemson's All-America placekicker and punter. "The disability affects my spelling and reading. Everything involving school was very hard for me, but when I got my college diploma in August I achieved something that I did not think I could do. It is hard to explain to someone who does not have a learning disability what it is like to have one, and how difficult it was to get my degree."

One person who understands how difficult it was to earn his college degree is Nancy Welch, Nelson's mother. "I can't even say how proud I was," said Welch. "He has all kinds of trophies around the house for sports, but to graduate from high school, get accepted to Clemson, and then to graduate from Clemson in four years was quite an accomplishment."

Welch's learning disability was discovered very early when an elementary school teacher noticed a problem. "In the second half of first grade the principal and his teacher asked to talk with my husband and me," said Nancy Welch. "They said Nelson was doing well, but something was not clicking. He was then tested and it was discovered that he had a learning disability. They called it dyslexia, but it was more complex than that. However they call him dyslexic because it would be too confusing for people to understand anything else."

"We worked with a specialist who told us that the best way to help him was by giving him love and assurance, to provide the positive part of his life that he may not get in the classroom because of his problem."

The Welch's also hired a tutor for Nelson from first grade to high school. Once in high school his mother helped him.

"I can remember mom and Nelson staying up until 2 and 3 in the morning working on school work," said Turner. "I gained a lot of respect for him because I saw him struggling and working very hard just to get through his homework. There were times when he did not want to do the work because he was frustrated, but he and mom got through it."

"My mom really helped me a great deal," said Nelson. "It is important that families with learning disabled kids realize that it is not just the child who has the problem, but the entire family. My whole family had to deal with me and help me. It takes everybody in the family to make it. The family members have to understand that the kid has a problem and that he is okay. It just takes a lot of work."

Realizing the amount of help he has received to succeed in college, Welch decided to give something back. He has taken time to talk with students in the area about the accomplishments he made and the struggles he experienced because of his learning disability. He hopes that his meetings with students have an impact on the lives of other learning disabled students.

"I want to make a difference in other people's lives as did Bruce Jenner in mine," said Welch. "When I was younger I thought that if this guy can win the Olympic Decathlon and be the best at what he did with a learning disability, then I can be the best at what I do. I turned the anger and frustrations of having a learning disability into something positive and so can other people." Bruce Jenner set a world record in the 1976 Olympics as he won the gold medal in the Decathlon.

"There are a lot of people out there with a similar problem. By letting them know that I walked down the aisle and got my diploma, hopefully they will realize that they can too. What I think people have to realize is that a person can get a high school and college degree even though they have a learning disability."

"Those with learning disabilities have to be willing to put in the time and hard work to get through. There are going to be obstacles each semester and bouncing back from things like failing a test is a hard thing to do. Students with learning disabilities have to find something that they are good at to balance out the frustrations in the classroom. They also have to ask for help and talk to the teachers."

When deciding on a college Welch's parents were very concerned if he would be able to receive the help and attention that he would need. "At Clemson he has received the best help," said Nancy. "We knew that Clemson was a great place for him to play football but we worried about him with his disability. However we could not be more pleased by the support that he has received from the Learning Center, the professors, and the administration. Thanks is not enough for all that they have done for him."

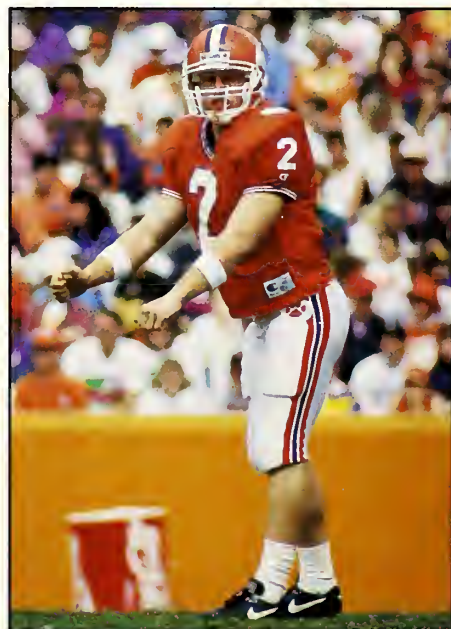

Interestingly enough, Nelson Welch may never have had the opportunity to play at Clemson if it were not for the advice a school specialist gave his mother. "At the beginning of second grade a school specialist asked what he enjoyed and what he excelled in," Nancy remembered.

"I said he loves soccer and people have told me he was very good. The specialist told us that we should let sports be where he gets his positive strokes. We were not to make sports a reward or a punishment for him. If she would not have said that we likely would have done the opposite and that would have broken his spirit. It was really the turning point in his life. We had to battle at school to make sure that they did not punish him by taking away sports because he was struggling in the classroom."

Fortunately his parents won those battles and Nelson Welch was able to be very active in sports, and he certainly has excelled. In high school, he was an all-star performer. He lettered five years in track, two years in basketball and four years in football. Welch anchored the 1990 4x100 meter relay team and was a two-way starter for the Greer AAA state championship football team, while also handling the kicking duties. Welch was named all-state in 1988 and 1989 as a kicker. In 1989 he was named the Player-of-the-Year in South Carolina by USA Today and the Associated Press.

"I got my abilities from my dad, as he was a great football player and lettered in baseball football, track and basketball. He had the state record in the 100-yard dash for about 15 years. In one of the races he won he beat King Dixon (former South Carolina athletic director and star football player) in the 100-yard dash. When I was being recruited by them my dad told me to remind him of that."

It is unlikely that affected his decision, but Welch turned down the garnet and black for purple and orange, a move predicted by Clemson Hall of Fame Coach Frank Howard.

"Coach Howard taped his TV show after mine," said Nancy, who hosted a TV cooking show on WSPA in Spartanburg for many years. "Often he would come over and talk to me before his show. When I was pregnant with Nelson he rubbed my stomach and said it was a boy and that he is going to play for Clemson. I did not know what the child would be at the time because they did not have all the electronic equipment then, and we were hoping for a girl because we already had a son. I guess Coach just knew more about my pregnancy than I did."

When Welch came to Clemson in 1990 the Tigers' kicker was Chris Gardocki, presently kicking for the Chicago Bears, so Welch was red-shirted. Ironically, Gardocki also had a learning disability. The following year Gardocki left for the NFL leaving the kicking duties to Welch, who quickly made a name for himself. In his first game he was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Week after kicking two field goals and four PATs in a victory over Appalachian State. However, it was not until his record-setting performance against NC State that Welch felt he proved himself.

"The NC State game my freshman year was important. I made five-of-six field goals to break the single game record. It really set the stage for me. People knew who I was and what I could contribute to the team. There were a lot of people that wanted to have Chris Gardocki back, but after that they knew I could contribute and help the team win."

Following his freshman campaign Welch was named first-team All-ACC and was runner-up in ACC Rookie-of-the-Year honors, as he connected on 19 of 28 field goal attempts and 31-35 PATs. He was also named a freshman All-American by Football News and finished fourth in the nation in field goals per game.

In 1992 Welch earned third-team Associated Press All-America honors, the first sophomore from Clemson to make an All-America team since William Perry in 1982. He was tied for second in the nation in field goals, was third in kick-scoring and 11th in overall scoring. He made 22 field goal, including a last-minute game winning kick against Virginia for the second year in a row. Additionally, Welch made 9-11 field goals from 40 yards or more, just one made field goal away from the national record for percentage on field goals of 40 yards or more.

Last season he made second-team All-ACC

Welch needs just four field goals to become Clemson's all-time leader, breaking a record held by his mentor, Chris Gardocki.

again after leading the conference in field goals with 15. He was 14th in the country in field goals per game. Welch has been in the top 15 in the nation in field goals per game each of his three previous seasons and is in the top 20 entering the Maryland contest.

During the 1994 campaign he likely will become the all-time leader in field goals made and in points scored for both the ACC and Clemson. Entering today's contest he needs three field goals to become the ACC's career leader and four to become the Clemson career leader. (ACC stats don't count bowl games and that explains the variance in the records.) Welch enters today's game with 60 field goals in 85 attempts for his Clemson career. Gardocki and Obed Ariri both had 63 field goals in their respective careers.

"Records are nice, but you have to put them in perspective. They are accomplishments, but they have no certain value or weight. Passing Chris Gardocki and David Treadwell is great, but they did not have the opportunity to kick as long as I did and did not have the chances I had. The records are just numbers, but they are not going to put food on my table or they won't get me a job."

Even though he will be surpassing Clemson kickers that have made it into the NFL, Welch is not set to follow in their footsteps. "I don't know if the NFL is something that I want to do. I don't know if that is how I want to live my life. After getting married I want to do what is best for my family. I would be worrying about keeping my job and the travel in the NFL."

"Kristen and I are very close. She and I pick each other up when we are down, we just have a great relationship. She is very supportive of my football. However, now that I am married, I have to consider the effects trying out for the NFL would have on my wife. We could move to where I was playing and the next thing I could get cut and then both of us would be jobless. I have to look at the worst case situation because it does not just affect me anymore. My goal was to play for Clemson and get a degree, not to play in the NFL."

Nelson Welch now looks to set new goals and dream new dreams as his playing days at Clemson come to an end.

A funny thing happened to Phil Prince last June 9th when he was coming to Clemson from his home in Mt. Pleasant for the 45th reunion of the Class of '49, of which he is the president.

He, traveling with his wife Celeste, had to stop in Columbia for a meeting of the Clemson Board of Trustees. Prince entered the room as a life member of the board and came out as acting president of Clemson University.

Prince will serve as university head until a permanent successor is appointed to succeed Dr. Max Lennon, who resigned in February, then accepted the position as president of Eastern Foods, Inc., of Atlanta the first week of June.

The 68-year-old Prince, who retired in 1983 as senior vice president of American Express, found out that news doesn't always spread like wild fire.

The day after his appointment as acting president, he stopped for some gas at a service station in Clemson. While he was inside paying for his purchase, a woman drove up to the tank behind Prince's car.

Noticing his auto tag which said "Clemson University Trustee" the lady asked Prince when he returned to his car: "You guys appointed anybody yet?"

Prince answered: "You're looking at him."

Born in Bostic, NC (August 4, 1926), Prince spent most of his young life in Erwin, TN, where his father was a railroad conductor. He first heard of Clemson from George Fritts, a member of the 1940 Cotton Bowl team, but at that time, a line coach at Clemson. Prince was also being recruited by Tennessee and N. C. State.

He first lettered in 1944, and the second game of the season was against Georgia Tech in Atlanta. For the trip, Prince came dressed in a pair of overalls and Coach Frank Howard asked about his attire. Prince replied that was saving his only pair of slacks to wear after arriving in Atlanta.

But things would get better, even before leaving Clemson.

Returning in 1946 after a stint in service, that season and the next one were on the losing side (4-5 each time). But the Tigers hit the jackpot in 1948 when Prince and Bob Martin were co-captains, undefeated in the regular season (10-0), Southern Conference champions (5-0), ranked 11th in the nation and champions of the Gator Bowl with a 24-23 win over Missouri.

Acting President Phil Prince was a starter on Clemson's undefeated 1948 team.

Prince made one of the biggest plays of his career against South Carolina that season. Trailing 7-6 with less than two minutes to play, the story goes that a man stood up in the stands and waved a $100 bill and said: "I bet Clemson scores on the next play," and Tigers didn't even have the ball.

On the next play Prince broke through and blocked a punt. Oscar "Rabbit" Thompson scooped up the ball and ran it in for a score and a 13-7 Clemson win. That success story was followed by many more by Prince.

He rose through the ranks of Milliken and Company over nearly a 30-year period to become vice president for personnel and management development before going with American Express in 1978.

In addition to his past service on the Board of Trustees since 1989, Prince has served Clemson as a member of the Alumni National Council and as a former president of the Clemson University Foundation Board of Directors. He chaired the Campaign for Clemson fund-raising drive and was a major donor to that effort. He and his wife established the Prince Presidential Scholars Endowment for academic recruiting scholarships. They have also contributed a life scholarship to the Clemson Athletic Department.

Prince is a recipient of the Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Award and the first President's Award, which recognizes outstanding service to the university. He was also presented the Clemson Medallion, the university's highest honor, in 1989. During his tenure as acting president, Prince plans to return his earnings to the school as a personal contribution to the Clemson University Foundation.

Philip Hunter Prince and Celeste Orr Prince are parents of two sons, Kevin and Jim. They also have two grandsons—the reason for moving from Pawleys Island to Mt. Pleasant. On the night he was named acting president, Prince called the four-year-old grandson, Philip Hunter Prince, II, to say that he was going to move away (to Clemson) for awhile. "I don't want you to move, grandpa," Philip said.

In the background, Prince heard his son, Jim, tell Philip: "Tell grandpapa how proud you are of him." To which Philip replied: "I'm not."

Sorry young Philip, but you're greatly outnumbered.

Phil Prince became Clemson's Acting President last Summer. The former Tiger griddier won the Clemson Medallion in 1989.

Head Coach Tommy West

Tommy West, a mainstay of a Clemson coaching staff that led the Tigers to a 69-20-4 record and six Associated Press Top 20 finishes between 1982-89, was named the Tigers Head Football Coach on November 29, 1993. During his first tour of duty with the Tigers as an outside linebacker coach, Clemson played in five bowl games (winning four) and claimed four ACC Championships, including three in a row from 1986-88.

Clemson had a 44-10-1 record against ACC competition during his era on the Tiger staff, an 81 percent winning mark. Additionally, five of those Clemson teams ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense and scoring defense, and three ranked in the top 12 in the nation in total defense.

Clemson's 1989 defense ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense and West's outside linebackers had a lot to do with that success. His top four outside linebackers that year are all currently in the NFL.

Levon Kirkland (Pittsburgh Steelers), Wayne Simmons (Green Bay Packers) and John Johnson (Cincinnati Bengals) are all currently starters in the NFL, and Ashley Sheppard (Minnesota Vikings) is a top reserve. Simmons was a first-round draft pick, Kirkland and Johnson second-round selections and Sheppard was a fourth-round choice. In addition to the four players listed above, Andy Headen (New York Giants) and Terence Mack (St. Louis Cardinals) are former Tigers West helped guide to an NFL career.

West began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (his alma mater) in 1977. He coached one year of high school football at White County High in Sparta, TN in 1978, then became an assistant at Mississippi in 1979. For the 1980 and 1981 seasons he served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State.

After his career at Clemson (1982-89), West became the running backs coach at Tennessee. During that 1990 season Tennessee won the Southeastern Conference and captured the Sugar Bowl with a win over Virginia. The Volunteers scored a school record 442 points that year and averaged over 400 yards a game in total offense, 205.7 rushing and 205.4 passing. He served as Co-Defensive Coordinator at South Carolina in 1991 and 1992.

In 1993 West began his college head coaching career, as he took over a UT-Chattanooga team that had won just two games in 1992. He doubled that total in 1993 and guided the Mocs to one of the landmark wins in school history, a 33-31 win over #1 ranked Marshall. He concluded the regular season with a 45-42 victory over Furman, ironically, his first regular season opponent as Clemson coach.

His first game as head coach of the Tigers was in the Peach Bowl against Kentucky. West became the fifth coach in NCAA history to make his debut with a program in a bowl game. However, he was just the second coach in history to make his debut in a bowl game without previously coaching his new team as an assistant coach earlier in the season.

The debut was a rousing success as his Tigers downed the Wildcats 14-13 at the Georgia Dome. The Tigers drove 83 yards for the winning touchdown on their last possession. Patrick Sapp hit Terry Smith from 21 yards out with 20 seconds left to conclude the closest game of the 1993-94 bowl season. It was the latest winning touchdown drive by a Clemson team since 1958.

West earned three letters in his four-year career at Tennessee (1972-75). The Vols played in three bowl games and were ranked in a final Top 20 in three seasons. He was the co-captain of Tennessee's 1975 football team and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game that same year.

He began his college career as a running back, but saw most of his playing time as a tight end. He caught 37 passes for 575 yards in his career with the Vols, including 16 passes for 233 yards as a senior. As a junior he caught an 81-yard pass from Condredge Holloway, still the longest non-scoring play in Tennessee history. He earned a bachelor's degree from Tennessee in 1976 and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that same year.

West played two years (1974-75) of baseball at Tennessee and had a career batting average of .305. He hit .367 in 1975 and was named All-SEC Eastern Division. Rick Honeycutt, now with the Oakland A's, was a teammate of West on that 1975 Tennessee team that finished 32-16.

West was a multi-sport standout in high school. He was an outfielder in baseball, a guard in basketball and a running back in football. In 1972 he was named a High School All-American in football and was a fifth-round draft choice in baseball by the Chicago Cubs. Willie Randolph, who went on to an all-Star career with the New York Yankees, was one of 77 future Major League players drafted after West in the regular phase of the June 1972 draft. But West turned down the Cubs offers and went to Tennessee. He played his prep football at Gainesville High in Gainesville, GA for Coach Bobby Gruhn. He was an all-state back as a junior and was also named to the All-Southern team.

Born Thomas Cleveland West on July 31, 1954, he is married to the former Lindsay Watkins of Forest City, NC. The couple has one son, Turner, 5.

West's Tigers downed Kentucky 14-13 at the 1993 Peach Bowl.

YOUR UNUSED TICKETS COULD HELP ERIC TACKLE THE BOOKS.

Eric attends a Homework Center – a place that helps him when Mom and Dad can't. And when he works especially hard, he can win wonderful prizes – like tickets to a Clemson home game that he might otherwise never get to see.

Hundreds of Homework Centers across the nation focus on keeping struggling students from becoming dropouts. In actuality, they're doing a lot more than that. Many hardworking students are bringing their grades up from F's to A's, and in one South Carolina elementary school expulsions declined from 38 to 4 after the centers opened.

Duke Power is proud to help support such an important and effective program. We invite you to help too. Simply donate football or basketball season tickets you're unable to use or purchase extra tickets to contribute to the Homework Centers for use as prizes. Send them at least two weeks before game day to: John Geer, Duke Power Company, P.O. Box 1745, Clemson, SC 29633.

Assistant Coaches

Les Herrin

Les Herrin Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Line

The Clemson football program has seen a lot of success during Les Herrin's tenure as an assistant coach. In 1981, Herrin arrived at Clemson as a linebacker coach, and the Tigers won the National Championship that season. In his first tour of duty with the Tigers (1981-84) Clemson had a 37-6-2 record during that span.

After a brief stint away from Clemson at East Carolina (1985-87) and North Carolina (1988), Herrin returned to the Tiger program in 1989 as defensive line coach. In 1989 Clemson ranked fifth in the nation in scoring, rushing, and total defense. The team followed that performance with a number-one ranking in total defense in 1990.

Herrin, in his first year as Assistant Head Coach, has coached several players who have had successful NFL careers. Herrin coached 1981 ACC MVP Jeff Davis, who went on to be captain of the Tampa Bay Buccaneers and 1989 All-Pro Johnny Remy (New England Patriots), who was a linebacker under Herrin's watchful eye in 1981 and 1982. Chester McGlockton, now one of the top young defensive linemen with the Los Angeles Raiders, and 1993 All-ACC selection Brentson Buckner of the Pittsburgh Steelers also benefitted from Herrin's teachings.

The Les Herrin File

At Clemson: In his first season as assistant head coach, sixth season as defensive line coach, and 10th season overall.

Miles Aldridge

Miles Aldridge Defensive Coordinator/Secondary

Now in his second stint at Clemson, Miles Aldridge will be the Tigers' defensive coordinator and work with the defensive backs in 1994. He first came to Clemson in 1985 as an inside linebacker coach. From 1986 thru 1989 the Tigers were ranked in the top 20 in all defensive categories. This included the 1989 season when Clemson ranked fifth nationally in rushing, scoring and total defense.

Clemson won three consecutive ACC titles during Aldridge's first stay at Clemson, 1986-87-88 and was ranked in the final AP top 25 in 1986-87-88-89. Clemson has been to a bowl game every year Aldridge has been affiliated with the program. And Clemson has been successful in those bowl appearances, as the Peach Bowl win over Kentucky gave Aldridge a 5-1 ledger in bowl games as a Clemson coach.

Aldridge has coached several players who have gone on to have successful pro careers. Three linebackers have gone on to the NFL, Andre Townsend (Mississippi), Freddie Joe Nunn (Mississippi), and Ed McDaniel (Clemson). Another former Clemson LB, Doug Brewster, went to the CFL, where he was a member of the Grey Cup Championship team, the Saskatchewan Roughriders.

The Miles Aldridge File

At Clemson: In his first full season as defensive coordinator, responsibilities also include defensive backs. It is his sixth full season as an assistant coach with the Tigers.

Previous Coaching Experience: High School - Chase High School (1971); defensive backs at Newberry High School (1972); College - Graduate assistant at East Tennessee State (1973); defensive line coach at East Tennessee State (1974-77); assistant coach at Wichita State (1978); assistant coach at Tulsa (1979); assistant coach at Mississippi (1980-82); assistant coach at Duke (1983-84); inside linebacker coach at Clemson (1985-89); outside linebacker coach at North Carolina State (1990); defensive coordinator and inside linebacker coach at South Carolina (1991-93); defensive coordinator at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Education: A.C. Flora High School in Columbia, SC; B.S. in Physical Education with a minor in Biology from Gardner-Webb (1971).

College Playing Experience: Lettered three years in football at Gardner Webb.

Personal Data: Born January 25, 1949...he and his wife Cathy have two daughters, Allison and Blakely.

Clyde Christensen

Clyde Christensen Co-Offensive Coordinator/Quarterbacks

An All-American quarterback in junior college, Clyde Christensen comes to Clemson after two years at Maryland. He knows the ACC well as he also played for the University of North Carolina in 1977 and 1978.

At Maryland he coached quarterbacks John Kaleo and Scott Milanovich. Kaleo ranked second in the nation in total offense as a senior, while Milanovich ranked fourth nationally in that category.

Christensen's offense at Maryland was explosive, as the Terps ranked fourth in the country in 1992 with an average of 466 yards per game, and 16th last year when they averaged 440 yards per game. The Terps also ranked second in the country in passing offense in 1992 and third in passing offense in 1993.

While Christensen is in his first year as a coach at Clemson, he has known Clemson head coach Tommy West for over 15 years. The two were graduate assistant coaches together at Mississippi in 1979. He is only 36-years-old, but already has college experience at Mississippi, East Tennessee State, Temple, East Carolina, Holy Cross, South Carolina and Maryland.

Christensen was a part of two successful teams at North Carolina, as the Tar Heels played in the 1977 Liberty Bowl and the 1978 Peach Bowl during his career. He was also a junior college All-American at Fresno City Junior College in California. He is a native of Corvina, CA.

The Clyde Christensen File

At Clemson: In his first season as co-offensive coordinator, he will also work with the Clemson quarterbacks.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Graduate assistant at Mississippi (1979); offensive coordinator at East Tennessee State (1980-82); quarterback and wide receiver coach at Temple (1983-85); offensive and recruiting coordinator at East Carolina (1986-88); receivers and tight ends coach at Holy Cross (1990); running backs coach at South Carolina (1991); quarterback coach at Maryland (1992-93); co-offensive coordinator at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Education: B.S. in Industrial Relations from the University of North Carolina (1979).

College Playing Experience: All-America quarterback for Fresno City Junior College; played for the University of North Carolina in 1977 and 1978.

Personal Data: Born January 28, 1958 in Corvina, CA...he and his wife Debbie have three children, Ruth (3), Rebecca (8), and Rachel (10).

Rick Stockstill

Rick Stockstill Co-Offensive Coordinator/Wide Receivers

Rick Stockstill has been around successful programs and record setting offenses his entire coaching career. In his first year as quarterback coach at Clemson (1989), the Tigers set a school record for completion percentage (60%). The Tigers led the Atlantic Coast Conference in total offense for the 1991 season, and Clemson gained the second most yards in school history in the process.

Stockstill also tutored productive offenses at Central Florida and Bethune-Cookman in his early years as a football coach. As a player, he was the starting quarterback for Florida State. He guided the Seminoles to a pair of Orange Bowl appearances, a pair of top 10 rankings, and was the team captain in 1981.

It is no surprise that Stockstill has moved up the coaching ladder so swiftly because he is the product of an athletic family. His father was a high school coach for many years at Fernandina Beach High School in Fernandina Beach, FL. His brother, Jeff, was a starting wide receiver for the Tigers in 1982, a reserve on the National Championship team of 1981, and was a contributor to the Clemson program for four years.

Stockstill is in his sixth year with the Clemson program and the Tigers have been to a bowl game in four of the five previous seasons. He joins Les Herrin and Whitey Jordan as the only full-time assistant coaches in Clemson history to serve under three different head coaches.

The Rick Stockstill File

At Clemson: In his first season as co-offensive coordinator and is in his sixth season with the Tigers.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Offensive coordinator and quarterback coach at Bethune-Cookman College (1983-84); assistant head coach and wide receiver coach at the University of Central Florida (1985-88); quarterback coach at Clemson (1989-1993); passing game coordinator at Clemson (1992-93); co-offensive coordinator and wide receiver coach (Dec. 1993-present).

Education: Fernandina Beach High School in Fernandina Beach, FL (1977); B.S. degree in Physical Education from Florida State (1982).

College Playing Experience: Earned three letters in football from Florida State.

Richard Bisaccia

Richard Bisaccia Running Backs/Special Teams/ Recruiting Coordinator

This Yonkers, NY native was a four-year starter and team captain at Yankton College. He was a free agent with the Philadelphia Stars of the USFL after his college career.

While the 1983 Spring season saw the end of his football career, the 1983 fall was the beginning of his coaching career. He was named the offensive coordinator at Wayne State in Nebraska his first year out of college and he has been in college coaching ever since.

Unlike many Division I full-time assistant coaches, Bisaccia has not made a lot of moves. He spent five seasons at Wayne State, then six seasons at South Carolina. He has experience coaching on defense and offense, but will concentrate on the running backs position at Clemson.

The 34-year-old Bisaccia is a coach who enjoys challenges. That is fortunate for Clemson because he must work with a very young group of running backs in his first year. There are no junior or senior backs on the Clemson roster.

Bisaccia probably wears more hats than any other Clemson coach. In addition to his time with the running backs, he is also the special teams coach and the recruiting coordinator.

In addition to Bisaccia's changes on the gridiron the last year, he has had a family addition. Last August, his wife Jeanne gave birth to their first son and fourth child, Richard Oakley.

The Richard Bisaccia File

At Clemson: In his first season as the Tigers' running backs coach and special teams coach.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Offensive coordinator at Wayne State (NE) (1983-87); graduate assistant for wide receivers at South Carolina (1988); volunteer assistant for defensive ends at South Carolina (1989-90); tight ends coach at South Carolina (1991); running backs and special teams coach at South Carolina (1992-93); running backs and special teams coach at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Education: New Fairfield High School in New Fairfield, CT; Earned a degree in health and physical education from Yankton College (1983).

James Earle

James Earle Tight Ends

James Earle holds the distinction of being the only former Clemson player on the 1994 Clemson Coach staff. There are many former Clemson players in coaching this year, but he is the only former Tiger serving his alma mater in a full-time capacity.

If Earle can make as many contributions as a coach as he did as a player, Tommy West will be very proud of his former player. Earle was a starting outside linebacker for the Tigers in 1986 and 1987 and West was his position coach.

As a player, Earle was named the nation's #6 outside linebacker by the Sporting News in the preseason of 1987. He led the Tigers in tackles that year with 79, outdistancing Michael Dean Perry for that honor. Clemson was fifth in the nation in total defense that year. Earle finished his career with 213 tackles, 15 tackles for loss and 16 pass deflections. He played in 47 straight games and had 27 starts. The versatile athlete lettered as a strong safety in 1984 and 1985 and played in three bowl games. Clemson won the ACC Championship and won a bowl game his junior and senior seasons.

Earle began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Clemson in 1990 and 1991, then was hired by West at UT-Chattanooga in 1993. Earle already has experience with a college program on both sides of the ball. He is tutoring the tight ends at Clemson and was a linebacker coach at UTC.

The James Earle File

At Clemson: In his first full season as tight ends coach.

Previous Coaching Experience: High School - Football, track, and wrestling coach at Greer High School (1989); football, basketball, and track coach at Easley High School (1992); College - Graduate assistant at Clemson (1990-91); linebacker coach at UT-Chattanooga (1993); tight ends coach at Clemson (1993-Present).

Education: Earned a Secondary Education degree from Clemson (1989).

College Playing Experience: Played strong safety and outside linebacker for Clemson (1984-87).

Personal Data: Born March 26, 1966 in Easley, SC.

Reggie Herring

Reggie Herring Inside Linebackers

Reggie Herring is another example of an outstanding player who has gone on to become an outstanding coach. A teammate of Rick Stockstill at Florida State, Herring left his own mark with the Seminole program as a player.

Herring was captain of the 1981 FSU Orange Bowl team and earned AP All-America honors that year. The Seminoles played in the Orange Bowl and ranked in the top 10 in the nation his junior and senior seasons, and he was recently inducted into the Florida State Hall of Fame. He was a three-year starter at Florida State and the Seminoles played in three bowls during his four year career. Florida State also had three double-figure victory seasons during his career.

Like many of Clemson's assistant coaches in 1994, Herring has a diverse resume. Herring has not made plans over the Christmas holidays for quite some time. He has been a part of college football as a player and coach since 1977. In those 17 seasons he has been to 13 bowl games, 10 as a coach and three as a player. He has coached in bowl games for Oklahoma State, Auburn, and Clemson and of course played in three bowls at Florida State.

The Reggie Herring File

At Clemson: In his first season as inside linebackers coach.

Education: B.S. in Criminology from Florida State (1981).

College Playing Experience: Three-year starter at linebacker for Florida State.

Personal Data: Born on July 3, 1959...married the former Lisa Ward, and they have two children, Caroline and Adam.

Ellis Johnson

Ellis Johnson Outside Linebackers

Ellis Johnson is another successful Tiger assistant who has ties to the area. Johnson attended The Citadel, but he grew up a Clemson fan. He was raised just outside of Columbia, but he had many relatives who were Clemson alumni. He has coached in the state at The Citadel as a graduate assistant, at Gaffney High as an assistant coach and at Spartanburg High as an assistant coach and head coach. He went back to the Citadel in 1982.

His most remarkable experience in coaching so far took place in Alabama. In 1992 Johnson served as an assistant coach at Alabama. The Crimson Tide experienced a perfect season and defeated Miami (FL) in the Sugar Bowl to win the National Championship. He is one of two Tiger assistant coaches on this year's staff with a National Championship ring. Les Herrin, a member of Clemson's 1981 staff, is the other.

Johnson was a part of four outstanding defenses as Alabama. During his tenure (1990-93), Alabama ranked in the top five in the nation in total defense and pass defense three times. The 1992 Alabama defense led the nation in total defense and rushing defense, and ranked second nationally in passing defense and scoring defense.

The Ellis Johnson File

At Clemson: In his first season as outside linebackers coach.

Education: Earned a degree in Secondary Education from The Citadel (1975).

College Playing Experience: Three-year letterman at The Citadel.

Personal Data: Born December 23, 1951...married to the former Tonya Taylor this past July.

John Latina

John Latina Offensive Line

John Latina has been an offensive coach for a Division I program every year since 1979. He might have his greatest challenge this season, however, as he has just three of the top 10 offensive linemen from last year's 9-3 squad returning.

But, if any coach can handle a situation devoid of experience it is John Latina. The Virginia Tech graduate who once played against Clemson as an offensive guard (1978) has worked at Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Temple and Kansas State. He has already coached in a bowl game with four different schools, Virginia Tech, Pittsburgh, Kansas State and Clemson.

During his career he has worked with Dan Marino, who led the Panthers to a 9-3 ledger and the Cotton Bowl in 1982. Paul Palmer, one of the top rushers in NCAA history with Temple, was also a member of Latina's offense in the 1980s.

Over the last five years Kansas State's program in general and offense in particular, has shown as much improvement as any in the country. In Latina's second season at Kansas State as offensive line coach and running game coordinator, the Wildcats set a school record for total offense with 4,231. Kansas State advanced to a bowl game in 1992, just the second bowl appearance in school history.

The John Latina File

At Clemson: In his first season as offensive line coach.

Previous Coaching Experience: College - Assistant coach at Virginia Tech (1979-81); assistant coach at Pittsburgh (1982); offensive line coach at Temple (1983-88); running game coordinator at Kansas State (1989-93); offensive line coach at Clemson (Dec. 1993-present).

Education: Received a bachelor's degree from Virginia Tech (1979).

College Playing Experience: Four-year letter winner at Virginia Tech as an offensive guard (1975-78).

Personal Data: Born September 18, 1957...he and his wife Michele have two sons John Jr. (10) and Michael (7).

We Earned

Our MBA.

If service were easy, anyone could do it.

Eastman Chemical Company earned the Malcolm Baldrige Award in part by delivering the kind of dependability that keeps customers happy and coming back for more.

In the past four years, we've maintained 98% shipping reliability, with some units reaching 100%. Maybe that's why 70% of our customers rate us their #1 supplier.

The Malcolm Baldrige National Quality Award is America's highest award for quality management. Earning it was the hardest thing we've ever done. And, for our customers, we'd do it all again tomorrow.

Saying WESTPOINT without STEVENS

was like saying

CLEMSON without TIGERS.

Here's how we tackled the situation:

From our history we have taken two great names and a symbol – each with a high recognition factor, rich in history and tradition – and formed a new Company name to propel us into the future. All three of these textile leaders make up today's WESTPOINT STEVENS.

Now – for the first time – each of the three great companies that have gone into our Company as we know it today are represented in one name and trademark.

WestPoint Stevens is now the name behind great names like MARTEX®, UTICA®, LADY PEPPERELL®, STEVENS®, VELLUX® and ALAMAC® and licensed designer labels including RALPH LAUREN®, COLLIER CAMPBELL®, LOUIS NICHOLE®, GLORIA VANDERBILT®, SANDERSON®, EILEEN WEST®, JOE BOXER®, and LIBERTY OF LONDON®.

Dear Diary,

Clemson Coaches

Clemson Sports Notes, 1993-94

*Clemson had nine teams rank among the final top 25 in either the final poll, or NCAA meet/ tournament events. The highest ranked team was the baseball team, which finished fourth in the final Baseball America poll. The Clemson soccer team advanced to the NCAAs and was fifth in the final poll, the wrestling team was seventh, the golf team was ninth, the men's track team was 11th, the Lady Tiger tennis team was 18th in the final poll, the women's basketball team was 22nd (USA Today poll), the football team 22nd (USA Today poll), and the men's indoor track team was 24th.

*The final Sears All-Sports poll ranked the Clemson all-round sports program 16th in the nation. Clemson's fine spring of top 11 finishes in baseball, track and golf had a lot to do with that fine ranking.

*Clemson defeated the number-one team in two different sports in 1993-94. The Tiger soccer team defeated number-one Virginia in Charlottesville on a goal at the buzzer by All-American Jimmy Glenn. The Clemson baseball team defeated Georgia Tech (ranked number-one by Baseball America) twice in Atlanta in May. It was just the second time in Clemson history that the Tigers had beaten the number-one team in two different sports in the same year.

*Nine different sports that compete in dual meet or match competition had at least one win over a top 25 opponent during the 1993-94 academic year.

*It was a showcase year for Clemson's facilities. For the first time in history, Clemson played host to NCAA Championship events in three different sports. Clemson played host to the volleyball and soccer tournaments in the Fall, the women's basketball tournament in the Winter and the baseball tournament in the Spring.

*Clemson had a solid year in football, basketball and baseball, the school's oldest and most traditional sports. Clemson went to postseason play in all three sports and was one of just two schools in the nation to win at least nine football games, 18 basketball games and 36 baseball games. Florida was the only other school in the nation to do it. It was just the eighth time in Clemson history and the first time in five years that Clemson has been to postseason play in all three of its oldest sports in the same academic year.

*All but two of Clemson's teams had what would be termed a winning season and five of the teams that participate in head-to-head competition won at least 70 percent of their games.

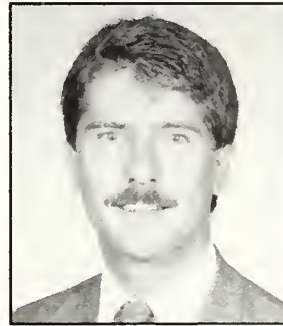

*Clemson football player Warren Forney was the recipient of the Sullivan Award, one of the top honors bestowed upon a Clemson student. It is presented for service to others.

*Jaro Zawislau won the ACC's Jim Weaver Award as one of the top all-around student-athletes in the ACC.

Clemson finished 16th in the National Sears All-Sports poll in 1993-94.

ACC Football

*Over the last 13 years the ACC has captured more college football national championships than any other conference. Clemson won the title in 1981, Georgia Tech in 1990 and Florida State in 1993. The Big Eight is second with two national championships over the last 13 years, while the Pac-10, the Western Athletic and Southeastern have one apiece. Maryland also won the national championship in 1953, the first year of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

*Over the last five years the ACC is the only conference in the nation to have each of its schools play in a bowl game.

*The nine ACC schools that will take to the field this fall have produced 296 first or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 47 first-team Academic All-Americans. ACC teams have had 1,253 players selected in the annual NFL draft, including 78 first-round selections.

*In 1993 the ACC boasted its first Heisman Trophy winner, Charlie Ward. He was one of eight different ACC players to be selected first or second-team All-American by at least one service. The list included Clemson guard Stacy Seagars.

*Clemson and Florida State are two of just four teams nationally who have won at least 75 percent of their games in seven of the last eight years. Clemson and Florida State are also the only two teams in the nation to win six bowl games since 1986.

*For the third consecutive year the ACC drew more than 2.3 million fans. Over 54 home dates, ACC schools attracted 2,416,728 fans. ACC teams played to 87 percent of their stadium capacities. Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in average attendance, its 12th straight year in the top 15 in the nation in attendance.

*If success in postseason play is a barometer of excellence, the ACC is among the best leagues in the nation. ACC teams have a combined 70-65-5 record in bowl games over the years, a .537 winning percentage. That is second only to the Pac-10's .551 success rate. Three ACC teams are among the top eight in NCAA history in terms of bowl winning percentage. Georgia Tech is second with a .68 percent mark, Florida State is fourth with a .636 mark and Clemson is eighth at .632.

*Four ACC teams are guaranteed appearing in postseason bowls this year. Five ACC teams received bowl bids in 1993. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1994 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the third year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC is in the second year of a two-year contract to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, (also a number-four team) in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

*The ACC also stands at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics in terms of academic achievements of its student-athletes. That accomplishment is certainly shown in the list of schools who have won the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is presented to the CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate of its football team. Eight times over the past 14 years an ACC member school has claimed the award. In 1994, the ACC had six of the 20 CFA members who reported a graduation rate of 70 percent or better.

*The ACC excelled in more than just football in 1993-94. The conference captured five national titles and participated in the national title game in four other sports. The ACC has won 18 national team championships over the last four years. In 1993-94 the ACC claimed the national champion in football, women's basketball, women's soccer and field hockey. The ACC held the runnerup spot in men's basketball, baseball, men's lacrosse and women's lacrosse.

*The ACC placed at least one team in the top 10 nationally in 14 of the 23 sports sponsored by the league. In 1993-94 a league record 82 teams competed in NCAA championships, five teams were in football bowl games and 29 teams were ranked in the final top 10 of their respective sports.

*At one time or another, an all-time high 12 ACC teams in eight different sports, representing seven of the nine institutions, held a number-one ranking in 1993-94.

*The ACC Academic Honor Roll record was broken for the eighth straight year as 1,151 student-athletes were recognized for their work in the classroom.

*ACC teams made an all-time record 29 national television appearances last fall and an ACC team participated in the highest rated game in 10 years.

Clemson and Florida State are the only schools in the country with six bowl wins since 1986. The ACC is the only conference in the nation that has seen all of its members participate in a bowl over the last five years.

ALL-PRO CENTER

When you're calling the plays for an important conference, tradeshow, banquet or meeting, you need a center who understands your signals and is ready to respond. That's why meeting planners all across the country make their calls to Palmetto Expo Center. With more than 400,000 square feet of meeting and exhibit space, 8,000 square feet of pre-function and registration area, a 3,500-square-foot outdoor courtyard, and 2,500 well-lit parking spaces on site, Palmetto Expo Center is set to tackle events of practically any size and scope. It's a snap to stage and service virtually every aspect of your event because our lineup includes a fully equipped catering kitchen, banquet seating and service for up to 2,500 people, sophisticated light and sound systems, and a staff that's trained to make the handoff smoothly with no fumbles or penalties.

Textile Hall Corporation is the proud donor of the Textile Bowl Trophy, presented each year to the winner of the Clemson-North Carolina State game in honor of the textile graduates of these two fine universities.

When you're making your game plan, put the all-pro center on your team.

Memorial Stadium

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th birthday of the place where the Tigers won six games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 52 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 180-65-7, including a 22-3-1 ledger over the last four seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.8 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger Football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 53rd year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through."

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the first day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

Clemson has the ninth largest on campus stadium in College Football.

Clemson has the most unique and famous stadium entrance in sports.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features which makes it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house."

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

What the Opponents Say:

"The biggest thing is dealing with the noise once the game starts. Clemson fans are among the most enthusiastic in all of football."

Bobby Ross, Head Coach
San Diego Chargers, 1991

"When they (Clemson) ran down the hill, I got so excited I could hardly breathe."

Marco Coleman
Georgia Tech, 1991

"Games at Clemson are unreal. You can stand next to each other and talk and can't hear what the other guy is saying. The offense and defense of the opposing team better get used to using hand signals to set formations and get plays off."

Bobby Houston
N.C. State linebacker, 1989

"I came in here knowing it would be loud and that Clemson would hit me hard, but to me the noise was the biggest factor. I know I didn't concentrate as well because of it."

Herschel Walker
Georgia tailback, 1981

Death Valley will be the home of the Carolina Panthers in 1995. It will be the largest stadium in the NFL that year.

Mother-of-the-Year

By Brenda Rabon

Louise Long is honored today as Tiger Brotherhood's Mother-of-the-Year.

It goes without saying that a Clemson mother is a special individual. Her deep-seeded love for Clemson University is shown through everything she does. Patience and understanding are virtues that Clemson mothers possess and her devotion to Clemson can be seen through the reflection of her children's love and loyalty for Clemson University, and her constant encouragement and support for the traditions of Clemson. These mothers comprise the group of special individuals renowned as candidates Tiger Brotherhood reviews in the selection process for the honor as the organization's Mother-of-the-Year.

Today, Louise Shealy Long is being honored as this year's Tiger Brotherhood Mother-of-the-Year for her devotion to and love for her family and Clemson University.

Louise was born in Allendale, SC, but has lived in Mauldin, SC along with her husband, William J. Long, raising their four sons for all of her adult life. Her husband passed away in 1965, and she was then left with two sons still in high school and two in college. She and her husband always hoped their four sons would receive a college education. Louise was faced with keeping this dream alive on her own.

"When my husband died, it never occurred to me to do anything different than to fulfill my obligation of educating our children," said Long. "Clemson was the best place. I knew how my boys were going to turn out. If I sent good ones away, I would get super ones back."

Through determination and great personal sacrifice, Louise did just that. Her sons, Bill ('67), Bud ('68), and Terry ('70) all proudly wear the Clemson undergraduate class ring. Carroll attended Mars Hill College and later transferred to Erskine College to play basketball. However, in the Long family tradition, he earned his master's degree from Clemson in 1974. All of Louise's sons have gone on to be successful, but have never forgotten the sacrifices their mother made for them.

Bill is the vice president of Southern National Bank in Greenville, SC. Palmetto Car Wash in Mauldin, SC is owned by her son, Bud. Carroll is a coach and teacher at Mauldin High School, and Terry is a senior banking executive at Nations Bank in Clemson.

All of Louise's children continue to support the Clemson tradition. One of her 10 grandchildren, Mindy, is now a student at Clemson with many more hopefully on the way. All of the Long family have season football tickets and on every football Saturday during the season, you can find about 18 members of the Long family tailgating on the Clemson campus. Additionally, her sons have contributed to the University as IPTAY representatives, Clemson Club Board members, and several University tasks forces.

Louise's children attribute their, "sense of duty and loyalty that they all have for Clemson," as a gift given to them by their mother. They recognize her as, "the best Clemson supporter," they know.

"Even when times are tough she always sees the positives and says that true Clemson people will pull our University through the tough times. When things aren't going well academically, she will often drop a note of support to the coaches. I have seen a couple of these posted on their walls. She does the same for others in tough situations," says her son, Terry.

During her life, Louise has contributed her time in various ways. She was a clerk for the Greenville County School District. From 1974 until her retirement in 1982, Louise served as postmaster in Mauldin.

Volunteer work is also an important part of Louise's life. For 10 years, she worked for the Salvation Army. Currently, she volunteers at the Greenville Hospital Cancer Treatment Center once a week and at the Marshall Pickens Mental Health Center.

As a life-long member of the Mauldin United Methodist Church, Louise has served as a Sunday School teacher, treasurer, choir member, and administrative board member.

Today, after many years of dedicating her time to helping others, she is being recognized by Tiger Brotherhood for her contributions. "It is a great honor to be nominated and I know that everyone nominated loves Clemson, but nobody loves it more than I do. It is the nicest surprise that could ever happen to me!"

The Mother-of-the-Year is a traditional part of Parents' Day. Each year the Tiger Brotherhood chooses a Mother-of-the-Year to be recognized before the game. The senior players' mothers are also recognized before the game, but it is the Mother-of-the-Year who has the honor of dotting the "i" as Tiger Band spells out "Tigers" in script. Parents' Day, which began in the 1960's, was originally Dad's Day, but was changed because the Clemson family wanted to recognize both mothers and fathers for supporting their children.

Parents' Day is a very special time for Clemson students because of the time they can spend with their parents and loved ones. However, it is a day the Long family will remember for years to come as Tiger Brotherhood proudly salutes Louise Shealy Long as the 1994 Tiger Brotherhood Mother-of-the-Year.

"I am honored to have my four sons nominate me for this award and to actually win is like icing on the cake! I believe my children's love for Clemson is a true testament of my love and honor for the University. I am happy to be a part of the Clemson family, and I consider it a home away from home."

What is Tiger Brotherhood?

Tiger Brotherhood is a local, selective, honorary fraternity. It still embraces the same basic tenets as established by its founders, led by Professor John Logan Marshall, in 1929. Enamored with ritual, the Tiger Brotherhood promotes high standards of social and ethical conduct, while recognizing in its members an earnest devotion to Clemson, coupled with the integrity of character commensurate with a typical Clemson gentleman.

Tiger Brotherhood embodies an unequalled cross-section representation of the Clemson community. Students, faculty, and staff all work within the bonds of brotherhood to champion a closer relationship. One for all and all for one, with Clemson and its many traditions and undying spirit as its central focus, today provides viable, flexible and continuing forum for ideas and unending service to Clemson.

CLEMSON UNIVERSITY ARMY ROTC

PREREQUISITE: ADRENALINE

Drive. Intensity. Those aren't words you're likely to see in many course requirements. Then again, Army ROTC is unlike any other elective. It's hands-on excitement. ROTC will challenge you mentally and physically through intense leadership training. Training that builds character, self-confidence and decision-making skills. Again, words other courses seldom use. But they're the credits you need to succeed in life.

ROTC is open to freshmen and sophomores without obligation and requires about 4 hours per week. Register this term for Army ROTC.

The only Clemson grad on the 1994 Tiger staff initially became interested in football by watching Minnesota Vikings quarterback Fran Tarkenton.

James Earle, Clemson outside linebacker, turned Tiger graduate assistant coach, turned full-time tight end coach, has been associated with the Clemson football program in many fashions in eight of the last 11 years. The only member of the Clemson coaching staff to have played for the Tigers, Earle has already left his mark on the Clemson record books as a player and is ready to do the same as a coach.

After earning his undergraduate degree from Clemson in secondary education (teaching concentration in biology and general science) in 1989, Earle moved to Greer and into the school system as a teacher, the head track and wrestling coach, and an assistant football coach at Greer High School.

Earle returned to his college alma mater from 1990-1991 as a graduate student and football coach, received his masters degree in Guidance and Counseling Services, and in 1992, returned to his high school alma mater, Easley High School, this time as the basketball and track coach, and the assistant football coach.

Earle's full-time college coaching career officially began in 1993 when he moved to UT-Chattanooga with Tommy West, his position coach as a player. Earle coached the linebackers at UTC, then joined West at Clemson in December of 1993 to help the Tigers prepare for the Peach Bowl against Kentucky.

"I always wanted to play football," said Earle. "I watched it on TV, and was a huge Minnesota Vikings fan. I used to watch Fran Tarkenton all the time, so that pushed me to play football, and I wanted to be a quarterback. I started playing in around the third grade. My mother didn't want me to play at first, but my father was instrumental in getting me to play. Both of them supported me, came to all my football games, and enjoyed it."

After an all-state career as a quarterback at Easley High, Earle came to Clemson, where he played strong safety as a first-year freshman before moving to outside linebacker. He was a starter in 1986 and 1987 and led the Tigers in tackles in the latter season. He was a prime reason the 1987 Tigers were 10-2 and ranked fifth in the nation in total defense.

"Playing for Clemson was a chance for my parents to do something that they probably wouldn't have gotten to do in their whole lives; to go to a stadium like Clemson's and go to a university to see that kind of football. Not only that, but to see someone they raised play in a stadium like Death Valley was special."

Earning a degree was extremely special to Earle and was certainly the major part of his Clemson experience. The education allowed him to start his professional life as a teacher and a coach, two professions that are identical in many ways. His NFL experience (12th round pick of the Steelers), even though he did not make the final cut, helped him realize how important that education was then and is now.

"I was drafted by the Pittsburgh Steelers and that was a dream come true," stated Earle. "I got my opportunity, but it wasn't what I thought it would be. It wasn't real difficult coming from Clemson because we had practiced and played hard here, so there was a lot of pressure here. After getting cut from the Steelers, I realized just how much of a 'business' the NFL really is. It was a good experience and something that I think all football players should experience to see exactly what it's like. All of the players think it's big money and lots of fun, but you see so many guys get their lives taken away from them.

"Some guys don't get a chance to graduate from college. When they do finish playing football they don't have anything to do. You hear so many times about having something to fall back on, and people just don't know how true that is. Being a professional athlete you can play for one year or six months, and you don't necessarily have to get hurt to get cut, they just let you go. They'll just find someone who's better than you, always."

Earle's playing opportunity at Clemson also afforded him the chance to meet and play for current head coach Tommy West, an important factor that brings him here as a 28-year-old coaching for a major college program. "Being a coach, it seems that no matter how much you absorb, there's always more to learn. I don't know everything there is to know about how to cover defenses or offenses.

"When I was playing, I never realized Coach (Tommy) West and Coach (Danny) Ford and all the other coaches, would stay up until midnight watching film and putting together a gameplan. I learned last year when I was at UT-Chattanooga that it takes a lot of work, and of course again this year that there is a lot of work to be prepared for the next Saturday's game."

And work isn't something that Earle has ever shied away from. He knows what it is like to be a student-athlete and a coach, and he knows the structure that players need as student-athletes. "One of the reasons I came here was because it was one of the best places to play college football. I want to see our kids receive a good education, get good jobs, and learn something from Clemson, some discipline, some respect, how to carry themselves day in and day out. I want them to learn how to survive in the real world once college is over."

"James Earle is a great person, a very hardworking individual, a very conscientious person about what he does both on and off the field," said fellow assistant coach Rick Stockstill. And that is an important factor for being a coach. Says Earle, "It's a lot more difficult as a coach, but it's rewarding."

Student-athletes should learn something from a role-model like Earle. Being a high school counselor taught him to hear what people are saying, to absorb the meaning of the things they tell him. That's what made him a success in counseling, and that's what will make him a success in coaching.

Earle concentrated on stopping the opponent's tight ends as a player. Now he teaches Clemson's tight ends to succeed against opposing outside linebackers.

COME TO YOUR DODGE DEALER AND SEE THE CAR THAT CHANGED EVERYTHING...

Dodge Intrepid ES

It's called Dodge Intrepid. And it's like no other car you've ever driven. Its remarkable cab-forward design gives more room to people and less to machinery. Although the machinery itself is remarkable. Like a 4-speed automatic that adjusts shift quality based on your driving habits. Plus other technological wonders too numerous to mention. Dodge Intrepid. This changes everything.

...AND THE TRUCK THAT CHANGED ALL THE RULES.

Dodge Ram Pickup

The Dodge Ram Pickup. It's the first full-size pickup with available anti-lock brakes at all four wheels. And every pickup we sell comes with a standard driver's-side airbag.* While, under the hood, there's a choice of powerful Magnum engines including an awesome 300 horsepower V-10. Ram pickup also changes the rules about the way a truck ought to look. Dodge Ram. The rules have changed.

THEN SAY HI TO NEON.

Dodge Neon

Don't let its small size fool you. Our Neon is full of big ideas. Like cab-forward design. So there's more room inside than you might think. And more power, too. A generous 132 horses to be exact. Plus four-wheel independent suspension and available quick-ratio power steering make it a ball to drive. Say hello to Neon and you could be saying hello to your next new car.

Playing for Clemson has been in Will Young's family for many years.

Growing up in the shadows of Death Valley, every young kid dreams of putting on the orange and white and being a local star. For Tiger offensive guard Will Young, that is reality.

Ron Young, Will's father, is the local pharmacist at Lynch's Drugstore in downtown Clemson and Kathy Young, Will's mother, is the daughter of Ed McLendon, who played tackle on the 1940 Clemson Cotton Bowl team, the first bowl team in Clemson history and the first Tiger Eleven to end the season ranked in the Associated Press Top 20.

With those Tiger roots and history, Young never toyed with the idea of playing somewhere else. "I've always been a Clemson fan and my dream was always to play here and when I had the opportunity, I jumped at it," said Young.

His most vivid memory of a Clemson game growing up was a hit on a Clemson running back (by current Cincinnati Bengal John Johnson) that Young believes exemplifies what Tiger football is all about. "Johnson almost cut him in half. You look at that tough and physical style and that is what Clemson football is all about."

Being from Clemson and playing football here has its highs and lows according to Young. "It is easier in my studying, and if I have a problem," says the junior, "I can always go home and see my parents for help whenever I want to, the other guys can only call." But, expectations from the local community and the added pressure that comes along with it has been stressful to Young at times. "If I came here and I wasn't any good, I feel people would look down on me...everybody in this town knows who I am, so some pressure comes with that. I had a holding penalty in the Peach Bowl and I got rattled all summer about it."

Young's ties to the new coaching staff and Head Coach Tommy West go back to his youth. "When I was in elementary school, I used to sit with Rusty Crowe (son of Jack Crowe, ex-Tiger assistant and current offensive coordinator at Baylor) on the 50-yard line.

"Mrs. West would be up there and I got to go on some of the trips and I met Coach West through them." Young's father also knew Coach West and other Tiger assistants including defensive coordinator Miles Aldridge through his pharmacy and his work as a football official at Clemson scrimmages.

With the encounters with Coach West and some of his staff growing up, it is no surprise Young believes West is going to bring Clemson long-range success. "We are going to be tougher and more physical every year that Coach West is here and every year he is here, the more we are going to improve," Young added, "We need to get a couple of recruiting classes in here, but we are going to be a good football team in the future."

Offensive line coach John Latina also has received high praise from Young. "Coach Latina is a heck of a coach, he is what is going to make this Clemson offense go. He is going to be a big reason why this program gets turned around and is in the Top 10 every year." Young further describes Coach Latina as "very tough" and compares him favorably with Daniel High head coach Allen Sitterle, who Young helped lead to the 1991 state championship. "They are probably the two best coaches I've had."

This season, Young is the only starter on the offensive line that also started a year ago. "I lead in different ways than some people. I like to go out and do the best I can, whether it be in drills or whatever, I like people to watch me and learn from me that way. That is the way I want people to learn from me, not from being very vocal."

Young feels he has picked up some of these characteristics from ex-teammate and All-American Stacy Seegars, who he admired during his first two seasons. "Stacy did everything perfect without saying anything and that is the way I want to be."

Coming out of Daniel, Young was chosen as the state Lineman-of-the-Year by The Greenville News and several publications tabbed him as an All-American, including SuperPrep and Max Emfinger. In 1992, Young played as a true freshman, something very rare for an offensive lineman, and in 1993, Young worked his way into the starting lineup and started every game. He played nearly 800 snaps.

Young lists the Peach Bowl as his biggest thrill since being a Tiger. "It was enjoyable to play in that game at the Georgia Dome, and it was my last time getting to play with (Stacy) Seegars, (Brent) LeJeune, and Bryce (Nelson)." Young has become the stability of Clemson's starting front in 1994 and West has labeled Young the "granddaddy of the offensive line."

Off the field, Young has managed to balance his schedule well-enough to make the ACC Academic Honor Roll in each of his first two years. He singles out time constraints as the most difficult thing about college football. "We get up at 7:00 a.m. and don't get home till 9:00 p.m. or 9:30 p.m. We are tired and hurting and then we have to study." His relationships with his roommates (Matt Reeves, Mark Landry, and Chris Brooks) and his fellow linemen make life and football easier to deal with. According to Young, Tiger fullback Matt Reeves, a devout Christian, "is probably my best friend on the team. He rubs off on me in a good way and helps me to be a better person."

In the future, Young hopes to follow in his late grandfather's footsteps and be a high school coach. McLendon coached high school football for 40 years. Among his players were current Tiger outside linebackers coach Ellis Johnson. McLendon's accomplishments earned him a spot in the National High School Football Coaches Hall of Fame.

"I'm going to try to coach in college if I can, but also at a high school because it is a little more exciting and the kid's play just for the fun of it," said the 273-pounder. "I hope that opportunity comes in the state of South Carolina or somewhere in the south."

As Young's years at Clemson continue, he hopes to hang on to the time he has here. "I have talked to former players and the one thing they regret is how they wished time away. I know when I leave here, I am going to miss this place and all my teammates."

Young will miss his Clemson football experience because no one on the Tigers has a deeper or more ingrained appreciation of its traditions.

Young's grandfather was a starter on Clemson's first bowl team.

What we mean by putting South Carolina first.

We founded Carolina First because, well, because we felt we had to.

- South Carolina's community banks were being bought up and run to serve absentee owners.

- Being South Carolinians, we didn't care to do without a strong bank dedicated to our state's well-being.

Being bankers, we created this bank. • If we understand South Carolina's needs, it's because they're the needs of our own friends and neighbors. We invest in South Carolina businesses because it's good business for all concerned. After all, when our home communities grow and prosper, we grow and prosper. And because we treat our customers as the individuals

they are, their good feelings spark our own. • We'd treat any customer from anywhere this way. But by design – and in conscious contrast to the multi-state megabanks

– our customers are South Carolinians. So are

we. Is it any wonder we put South Carolina first?

IT'S WHAT YOU DO WHEN THE COACH ISN'T WATCHING THAT MATTERS.

Start early. Stay late. Take responsibility. Do what needs to be done without being told to do it. These are qualities that matter. Especially when it comes to service. And especially at First Union, where service throughout the Southeast doesn't stop at the door or close at five. It's looking after you even when you're not looking.

Coaching is a job of adjustment, training, and instruction. In the case of a coach, that adjustment process also finds a way into personal life. A coach's ability to handle these adjustments speaks volumes of his ability to be successful.

As a coach, life usually revolves around players, practice times, game times, and meetings, but think of the personal life of a football coach. Lives have to be changed to produce limited quality time with family and friends. Ellis Johnson, coach of the Clemson outside linebackers, exemplifies someone who has tackled that on and off the field adjustment process head-on and conquered it.

In his first full season on the Clemson staff, Johnson has had to make many adjustments in his personal and professional life over the past year. Professionally, Johnson made the move from Alabama, where he had coached from 1990-93 and was a member of the Crimson Tide National Championship Staff of 1992.

In July of 1993 he was confronted with adjustments in his personal life, as doctors discovered during a routine physical that he had cancer. Chemotherapy and radiation treatments followed for the next nine months. In the midst of the stress related with this development and the end of the 1993 Alabama season, he was approached by Clemson Head Coach Tommy West about the possibility of coaching at Clemson. He accepted the job, joined the team in Atlanta one week prior to the Peach Bowl, still going through his treatments, moved to Clemson, and finally, in July, married Tonya Taylor, whom he had been dating for three years. All these changes took place in one year's time. That's enough change for a decade for most people.

In the midst of treatment, Johnson received the offer from Clemson and had to adjust to a move to not only a new area, new doctors, but the pressures of a bowl game. "The players responded to the change (in coaching staff) very well," stated Johnson. "I've been through seven complete staff changes in my career as either a player or a coach. It's always critical how the players, especially your seniors, respond to it. I think they (Clemson's players) have had an exceptionally good attitude.

"The bowl game was unique, especially for me," chuckled Johnson. "I missed the first week of practice, which is really the preparation week. I was still in Birmingham and had to go through treatments. So I joined them in Atlanta for the bowl, we had about three or four practice sessions left, the plan was basically in. I had broken down some film two weeks prior just to help out, so I had an idea about Kentucky. I think the players did a good job with that."

While there were many adjustments for Johnson during this time, adjusting to being a Clemson Tiger was not difficult. "I was born and raised in a Clemson family and I've enjoyed getting back to South Carolina," said Johnson, who was raised near Columbia, SC.

Johnson played football in high school and eventually moved on to play and graduate from The Citadel in 1975. He spent one year there as the defensive ends coach and then moved to Gaffney, SC, as an assistant coach at Gaffney High School. He then became an assistant coach at Spartanburg High in 1979, and was named the head coach for 1980-81. "I wouldn't trade a $1 million for my experience in high school coaching. I think it makes you a better recruiter. It definitely makes you a better teacher on the football field."

Johnson returned to his alma mater as the linebacker coach for one season (1982). He then received his first college head coaching position, Gardner Webb in 1983, which was followed by a term as defensive coordinator and inside linebackers coach at Appalachian State in 1984. He moved to OLB coach and recruiting coordinator at East Carolina (1985-87), became the defensive coordinator at Southern Mississippi (1988-89), and then went to Alabama where he was part of a record setting defensive coaching staff. Alabama led the nation in total defense in 1992.

Despite this varied experience Johnson says he doesn't have a set coaching philosophy, but it is easy to see the genesis of his motivation. "I don't really have a philosophy of coaching. I think that whenever you do something, you should try to figure out what you enjoy the most about it and why you are staying with it. Obviously, unless you're lucky, it's not a profession you choose for money. It has some drawbacks, from the standpoint of being away from home a lot. But there's no question, the reason I've enjoyed the profession is because of the people in the profession. Both coaches and the players. I enjoy being around young people, it keeps you young in attitude. I enjoy the players most of all."

Being diagnosed with cancer also contributed to his overall coaching attitude. "It probably was a good experience in the long run. It really makes you understand what's most important. I don't have any less enthusiasm for my job as far as enjoying it and understanding how important it is, but I don't have to be at a certain place at a certain time by a certain year. Objectives aren't as important. I think you can get lost in that and forget what you really enjoy in your profession. It has made me enjoy the day-to-day experience of coaching that much more."

And the athletes have responded to Johnson, thanks in part to his attitude. His attributes in his personal life carry through into his life on the field as a coach. Darnell Stephens, an outside linebacker on the squad said, "Coach Johnson fought his cancer and still came out and coached with fire and enthusiasm. He teaches us so we are the best we can be. I admired that in him. He told us that there may be times when he would be weak (during Peach Bowl practice), but you could never tell because he always gives his all. Being that kind of person really makes me want to go to bat for him, perform for him, giving all I've got."

Coaching is all about adapting to change, whether it be through halftime adjustments to personnel changes the week of the game, to changing a gameplan for a new opponent. Sounds like Ellis Johnson will make a great Division I head coach some day.

Ellis Johnson and his wife Tonya.

CLEMSON: EVER CHANGING...

Two brand-new residence halls were finished and ready for students to occupy when they arrived in August for the new academic year. Holmes Hall and McCabe Hall house a total of 592 students and were built on the site where 'B' and 'C' sections of Johnstone Hall, known affectionately as the 'tin cans,' once stood. The completion of the two residence halls, named for the late W. Gordon McCabe and the late E. D. Holmes, both former Clemson trustees, signaled the end of phase one of a 10-year project to demolish all of the sections which collectively were known as Johnstone Hall and replace them with new, modern residence halls. A section will retain the Johnstone Hall name. The facilities at Clemson are ever changing.

STILL SOLID AS  THE ROCK

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 61st year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletic costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in ensuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

IPTAY completed another record breaking year in 1993-94 when it went over the $6 million mark for the first time. The total number of members reached over 18,000. The Tiger Cub Club was also introduced for the first time, giving Clemson fans from birth to age 22 a chance to become involved in Tiger athletics.

Thanks to this support on the field, Clemson enjoyed another banner year in 1993-94. The program ranked 16th among all-around programs in the nation according to the Sears NACDA rankings, and had nine teams ranked among the top 25 in the respective final rankings. Clemson was especially successful in the Spring when the baseball, golf and track teams were all ranked among the top 11 in the nation. Clemson's traditional sports of football, basketball and baseball were also successful. Clemson and Florida were the only teams in the nation to win at least nine football games, 18 basketball games and 36 baseball games.

It was also a banner year academically. Soccer goal keeper Jaro Zawislanski was the recipient of the ACC's Jim Weaver Award as one of the outstanding all-around student-athletes in the league. In the Spring semester of 1994, 43 student athletes were on the dean's list and 14 had a perfect 4.0. Tiger football player Warren Forney was the recipient of Clemson's Algernon Sydney-Sullivan Award, which is given to a Clemson student for outstanding service to others.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to ensure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson", a long range fund-raising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus, is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small group instruction.

The generous support of loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the outdoor track with new stadium facilities, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

The facilities are among the best in the country, at least that must be the opinion of the NCAA. Over the last two years Clemson has played host to NCAA events in four different sports, including three in 1993-94.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

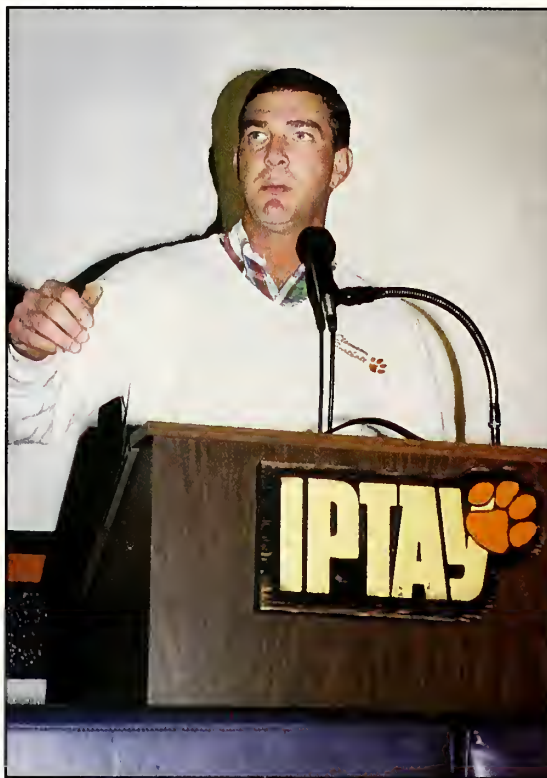

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.9 million in funds, currently benefiting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators, are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

Tommy West spoke to a record 38 IPTAY meetings last spring. The organization is the reason Clemson offers a full complement of scholarships in each sport.

1995 Clemson Tiger Football Camps

The Clemson Tiger Football Camps are non-contact instructional camps. There are two camps to choose from. The Tiger Cub Camp is for boys in grades 4-8. The Tiger Camp is for boys in grades 9-12. Coach West and the entire coaching staff are camp instructors along with select high school coaches. Come be evaluated by the best! Emergency Services

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE:

Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:

Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:

The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.

2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL

Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion."

Find out what's really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

Phil Prince Comments

By Phil Batson

What are your top priorities as Acting President of Clemson University?

Prince: "I think the top priorities are to continue to support the strategic planning committee and follow the task forces that are working on rethinking and re-looking at Clemson and how it should be structured and organized for the next century...not only for the next century...but for the next four or five, 10 years out and on beyond that."

"It's going to be as we stated, through the years a strategic planning process undergirded by continuous process improvement. I've been asked by various groups around campus as I've visited with them, 'Is this a one shot deal?' and I said 'No, just as the name implies it's not a one shot deal; a continuous process improvement means it's something that you are continuously working on."

"I've told a number of groups the biggest room in the world is the room for improvement. What we're trying to do at Clemson is to continually work toward improving and getting better. That's why the work that these task forces are doing is so important."

"Within that overall priority system, I guess the most important thing I can do is to communicate with groups. I've met with all of the task forces. I meet with the strategic planning committee every time they meet and will continue to do that."

"As you've probably seen in some other interviews, somebody asked me what your top three jobs are and I said communicate, communicate, and communicate. The key to carrying this out successfully—making the maximum number of people have an appreciation for what we're doing and an understanding of what we're doing—is to communicate with them and not just talk to them. We need to listen to them and respond to it so that there's a feedback group. That's what a good communication is all about."

What do you think is Clemson's greatest challenge at this time?

Prince: "The greatest challenge is how to cope with reduced state funding. I'm not sure that enough Clemson people understand the fact that about five or six years ago Clemson used to get about 70 percent of its total budget needs from the state of South Carolina."

"Today that is down to about 38 percent. So it's almost been cut in half. Another way to look at that is the commissioner on higher education about nine or 10 years ago started looking at what they call full formula funding, which is looking at comparable institutions or systems of higher education in the southeastern states."

"They said to be average—remember just average—with all of those other institutions, this is the amount of money it would take and then they would fund Clemson, South Carolina and all the other state institutions as a percentage of that full formula funding."

"The highest we ever got was about 98 percent of average. Today we're down to about 68 percent, and I don't think people in South Carolina and Clemson people want Clemson to be 68 percent of average. They want Clemson to be above average. So that's our biggest challenge."

"That challenge has led us to the next thing, and that is how do we find—through our strategic planning and our task forces and our reorganization efforts—a way to deliver, not average quality, but even better quality at lower cost."

"So that's what we're trying to do. That's the challenge we've got. That's what I'm going to try to keep moving forward during the time that I'm the Acting President."

What is your assessment of athletics at Clemson University?

Prince: "My assessment is—again to use a phrase that people are probably going to hear me say a lot and may get tired of hearing me say, but I think it illustrates a point—in athletics, just as with the rest of the University, there's always that big room for improvement."

"You can even ask Jack Leggett with the outstanding season that his team had, and the wonderful job he did of coaching the young men. If you ask them they would say, 'Yeah, but we'd still rather have gone to the College World Series in Omaha.'"

"So they saw that they had room for improvement even with the outstanding season they had. Certainly Tommy West and Rick Barnes know what they want to get accomplished in terms of improvement, and I think that applies to every sport that we have and we sponsor at Clemson with the help of IPTAY."

"I think we have an outstanding athletic program. I think it is a program of integrity and honesty. It's a program that's dedicated to teaching young people a value system. I think our coaches are dedicated to making sure that young people get an education and earn their degree from Clemson and at the same time perform up to their best abilities on the athletic field. I think we've got a good program."

"I told (ACC Commissioner) Gene Corrigan in August that although two of them haven't coached a team in competition yet, I think we've got three of the most outstanding major sport coaches that we've ever had at Clemson in Rick Barnes, Tommy West and Jack Leggett. Jack's already displayed his abilities, and I'm sure that Rick Barnes and Tommy West are going to do the same thing."

Where does athletics fit in your list of priorities?

Prince: "I want Clemson to be the best

Clemson's Acting President presents his views on everything from athletics to overall university challenge.

that it can be in every facet of everything that goes on here. I want us to be outstanding in teaching. I want us to be outstanding in the quality of our faculty. I want us to be outstanding in the quality of our student body. I want us to be outstanding in the public service mission that we have as a land grant university. I want us to be outstanding in athletic performance."

"So, athletics can not rank ahead of anything else on this campus, but it has to be given the same weight and the same emphasis in its search for excellence as any other part of the university. If we're going to give young people an outstanding undergraduate experience, which is what we strive to do, then they want an outstanding athletic program to go side by side with an outstanding academic program with good teaching, good faculty, and so on."

What, if any, changes in Clemson athletics do you see on the horizon?

Prince: "About the only thing that I see happening is the issue of gender equity. We may still be looking at what is the mix of sports that we offer at Clemson between those exclusively for women and those exclusively for men. As you and IPTAY members know, we have added women's soccer and that's going to be a good addition to the roster of sports that we offer."

Does being a former Clemson athlete and a beneficiary of IPTAY's scholarship efforts offer you a unique perspective in your new position as University President? How so?

Prince: "I do think it gives me a different perspective. Because I was able to come to Clemson on a scholarship, providing unrestricted scholarship funds to this

Tigers in the NFL

by Tim Bourret

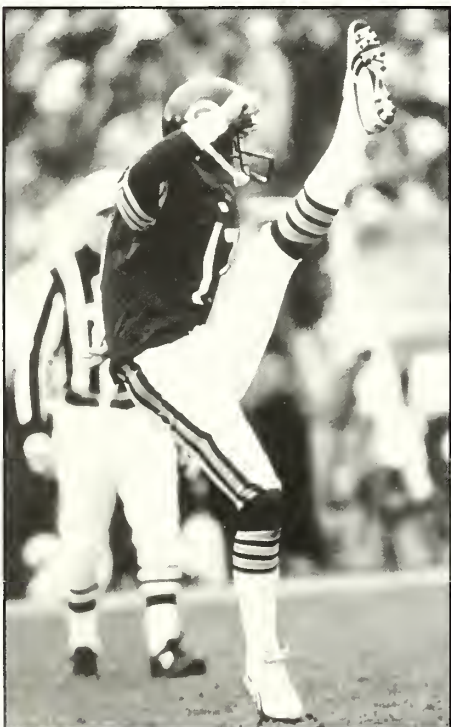

Twenty-one Clemson players were on opening day NFL rosters for 1994. This was the sixth year in a row Clemson has had at least 20 players on opening day NFL rosters. Last year Clemson had 23 opening day players and by the end of the season 26 former Tigers were on NFL rosters.

The 1994 opening day list includes 14 defensive players, two special teams players and five offensive players. Of the 14 defensive players 11 were members of Clemson's 1990 defense that was ranked number-one in the country in total defense. Of those 11, six started in the NFL on Sept. 25th weekend games.

The Minnesota Vikings, who did not have a Clemson player on their roster in the first 30 years of their franchise, and were the last NFL team to have a former Tiger on their all-time roster, now have the most former Tigers with three. Terry Allen, Ed McDaniel and Ashley Sheppard are all former Tigers now with the Vikings. The Pittsburgh Steelers, Chicago Bears and Los Angeles Raiders all have two former Tigers apiece.

And, if you want to feel old, William Perry is now the dean of former Clemson players in the NFL, as he is in his 10th season in the league. Michael Dean Perry and Donnell Woolford were both in the Pro Bowl last year. David Treadwell has played in the league's all-star game in the past and there might be some stars on the horizon this year who could make the Pro Bowl next February.

There are currently 20 former Tigers on NFL rosters. Robert O'Neal was on the opening day roster for the Colts, but was released after the first game. Here is an update on the careers of former Tigers currently in the NFL:

Gardocki allowed the fewest punt return yards in the NFL last year.

Clemson had 21 players on opening day NFL rosters, including 11 who played on Clemson's #1 ranked defense of 1990.

Terry Allen...Minnesota Vikings...RB...5th Year

First running back in NFL history to return to the league after suffering a torn ACL in each knee...missed all of 1990 and 1993 with the injuries, but is back in the starting lineup this year...showed he is back to his old self with 159 yards on 22 carries and scored two touchdowns in a 42-14 win over the Bears in Chicago in Week 3 of this season...had remarkable 1992 season when he rushed for 1201 yards, a Viking single season record...only the third player in Vikings history and the first since 1981 to break the 1,000-yard mark...tied the Vikings record for rushing touchdowns in a season with 13, he was third in the NFL in that category...had 15 total touchdowns to rank second in the NFL to Emmitt Smith in 1992.

Brentson Buckner...Pittsburgh Steelers...DE...1st Year

Second-round pick of the Pittsburgh Steelers last year, he was the 50th pick of the entire draft, the exact same draft position of former Clemson All-American and All-Pro defensive tackle Michael Dean Perry in 1988 draft...Buckner is listed as a second-team defensive tackle after three games...he has appeared sparingly over the first three contests...Buckner is the only member of the 1993 Clemson team who made it as a rookie in 1994...as a freshman, he was member of Clemson's #1 ranked total defense...as a sophomore he was a member of Clemson's #1 ranked rushing defense.

Dexter Davis...Los Angeles Rams...DB...4th Year

Reserve defensive back with the Los Angeles Rams and the Phoenix Cardinals in his NFL career...played in six games and was waived by the Cardinals in 1993...had one start at cornerback, against Dallas in the third game of the season...had six tackles for the year, three on special teams and three on plays from scrimmage...signed by Rams on 11-23-93 and started the final three games of the year...had five solo tackles against Cleveland in his best game...had a career high 8 tackles against Atlanta on 11-15-92.

Chris Gardocki...Chicago Bears...P...4th Year

University—whether they be IPTAY scholarships or academic scholarships—is one of the things that I have as a goal and an ambition to provide.

"Clemson is woefully behind other schools on the number of scholarships they can offer to outstanding young scholars. We've got to keep the IPTAY program strong. We've got to have the funds to attract outstanding young student-athletes.

"Beyond that we've also got to attract outstanding students and we don't offer nearly enough full scholarships for young people. We lose some who want to go to Virginia, Duke, Vanderbilt, MIT, Harvard, Yale, and Dartmouth.

"Some of them would come to Clemson and help us build up the quality of our student body and the quality of our reputation as an academic institution if we could just give them the wherewithal to come to Clemson.

"That may sound to some people a little unusual coming from a former athletic scholarship winner, but again we've got to have balance. We've got to keep our program strong, but we've also got to build our academic program.

"When I was privileged and honored to speak as the 50th anniversary speaker for IPTAY's annual meeting in Columbia, people might remember that I said my goal in my lifetime is to end up doing more with the academic side of the house—as far as what I've given to Clemson—than I have done on the athletic side. Although my wife's and my gifts to the athletic side have been substantial, they're going to end up being more on the other side and I wish other people would take the same viewpoint."

Specifically, how has your experience as a former Clemson football player affected who you are today.

Prince: "I think playing under Coach Frank Howard on the team that I finished up with in the 1949 Gator Bowl has had a big impact on my life. I had a telephone call from Schoolboy' (Bobby) Gage. I had a call last week from Tom Salisbury.

"I got letters from several of my old teammates. We went undefeated and untied my senior year and beat Missouri in the Gator Bowl in a real exciting game, 24-23. It was a wonderful senior year for us and we've always stayed close as a team with a lot of love and strong support for each other.

"I think being on that team and playing for Coach Howard and the other coaches here at that time probably cemented my love for Clemson and was one of the reasons I was willing to come back to work for Clemson in so many volunteer capacities. Because I worked for them in volunteer capacities, I think that was one of the reasons the Board of Trustees picked me as the Acting President."

How do you see IPTAY's role in the overall landscape of Clemson University?

Prince: "IPTAY is extremely important to this University. We do have our critics now and again who say, 'Wouldn't this be a better university if all that money that goes to IPTAY was coming unrestricted to the university so they could use it for whatever they wanted to?'

"My answer to that is no, because several things could happen. If that were the case, number-one, we probably wouldn't have the same quality of athlete. I know we wouldn't have the quality of athletic program we have today.

"Number-two, we would have to take money away from the academic side and subsidize the athletic program which many colleges and universities have to do.

"Our situation at Clemson is good because IPTAY has helped us build a strong program. Because we get revenues for bowl games and other sources, Clemson has been unique in that money from the athletic side of the house flows to the academic side. That really is unusual. That's why IPTAY is so valuable to this university.

"We would not be able to provide what I think is a first-class educational experience in all its aspects both curricular and extracurricular, if it weren't for IPTAY and what they enable us to do in the athletic program."

Former Clemson coach now officially given credit for first using the forward pass.

Clemson has seen some very successful and prominent coaches come through Tigertown. There is John Heisman, Jess Neely, and Frank Howard, all members of the College Football Hall of Fame. Danny Ford won the school's first national championship in any sport. Of course, who could forget good old Eddie Cochems. Eddie Cochems? Yes, Eddie Cochems.

Around Clemson, Cochems's name may be one that is sometimes forgotten when discussing Clemson legends. He is more known among people who study the history of football. His 1906 St. Louis football team was the first to attempt and complete a legal forward pass. On September 5th of this year the College Football Hall of Fame officially recognized Cochems as the "father of the forward pass".

Eddie Cochems's coaching career at Clemson was a short one, only one season in fact. His 1905 Tigers opened the season with a 5-5 tie at home versus Tennessee. After that tie, Cochems rallied his troops and proceeded to whip Georgia, 35-0, in Athens, then beat Alabama, 25-0, in Columbia. The dominance didn't stop there, as Clemson topped Auburn, 26-0, at Auburn. Cochems's club then received a taste of its own medicine in a 41-0 loss at the hands of Vanderbilt, and a season ending loss to Georgia Tech, 17-10. The Tigers finished the season with a 3-2-1 record, not bad considering the caliber of the opposition. After the season Cochems left Clemson to become the coach at St. Louis University.

After the 1905 season the Football Rules Committee called a meeting to discuss the public perception of football as a brutal sport. During the 1905 season several players had been killed and more crippled as a result of participating in football. Some people called for the abolishment of the game, while others were in favor of reforms to make the game less violent.

There was such a concern over the sport, that President Theodore Roosevelt asked the heads of several prominent universities to the White House and tried to persuade them to eliminate the dangerous aspects of football. From this came a meeting of college officials summoned by the chancellor of New York University, and from that meeting came what we know today as the National Collegiate Athletic Association or NCAA.

Meanwhile the Football Rules Committee began to make new rules in an attempt to restrict close formations and try to open up the game. One of the new rules was that it was now legal to throw the ball forward. The new rule came with restrictions that would be unheard of today.

In 1906, if a forward pass struck the ground before an offensive player touched it, possession transferred to the opposing team. Today a ball caught across the goal line is a touchdown, but in 1906 it was a touchback for the defense. The length of the pass was later limited to 25 yards. With all the restrictions many successful coaches of the day felt that there were too many restrictions on the forward pass to even try it. However, Eddie Cochems was not one of those coaches.

Before the 1906 season Cochems's St. Louis Billikens worked on the forward pass during semi-secret practices and the coach scheduled four preseason games to help prepare his team for the season. The first preseason game was against Carroll College of Waukesha. Cochems told his team to forget the forward pass for this game, since he felt Carroll College would not put up much of a battle. "We don't need it against Carroll, don't show your hand too early," Cochems said.

The coach was wrong about not needing the pass against Carroll. Carroll was much stronger than expected and the game was in a scoreless tie in the second half. Cochems was pacing the sidelines, up and down, when Brad Robinson looked at his coach, and told his teammates it was time to start passing.

Robinson's pass fell short of the mark and as was the rule of the day, the ball was awarded to a surprised Carroll team. A few minutes passed and the Billikens regained possession of the ball. Robinson again dropped back to pass, and fullback Jack Schneider had moved 20 yards down field. Schneider heard Robinson yell, "Hike," a signal the pass was on its way. Schneider turned around and caught the ball, and he yelled, "Hike," a signal for his teammates to begin down-field blocking. There was no need because the Carroll defense was so confused no one was even near Schneider and he scored unscathed. History was made on that September 5, 1906 pass play.

St. Louis went on to win the game over Carroll, 22-0. The Billikens, including the preseason contests, went on to a perfect 11-0 record that season. Cochems's club outscored the opponents, 407-11. As much as Cochems is known for his offensive strategies, he should be given credit for the defensive play of his teams. Combining his seasons of 1905 at Clemson and 1906 at St. Louis, his teams won 14 games, and 12 of those were shutouts.

Over the years there has been some dispute over who threw the first forward pass. Some felt that the pass was first used by schools in the East, although these claims were never authenticated.

A motion picture was produced years ago that proclaimed erroneously that Notre Dame produced the first forward pass using the combination of Knute Rockne and Gus Dorias in Notre Dame's 1913 upset win over Army. It was the first time that the forward pass was used in such a prominent game. But Rockne himself credited Cochems with the birth of the pass in his autobiography, "...The forward pass came in quietly, almost obscurely. Eddie Cochems, Coach at St. Louis University, circa 1906, enrolled a few boys with hands like steam shovels who could toss a football just as easily and almost as far as they could throw a baseball," Rockne said.

Most of the information on the forward pass we have today comes from Philip A. Dynan, a member of the Board of Directors of the Sacramento Valley Chapter of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, Inc. Dynan was a sports information director at St. Louis University and in 1953, while at St. Louis, he began research on the study of the first legal forward pass. He finished the story in September of 1954 and proved that Edward B. Cochems and his St. Louis Billikens team developed and demonstrated the first use of the forward pass.

With this information in mind, the next time you're tailgating and discussing Clemson football legends, don't forget to include good old Eddie Cochems.

Cochems coached Clemson in 1905 then became the first coach in college football history to use the forward pass the next season.

Working With Nature To Create A Beautiful Environment... We Care.

Turf Energizer

The all organic, lawn and turf food. Enhances the natural growing cycle with slow-release nitrogen. Produces lush lawns and protects from certain patch diseases.

Ultra Soil

The highest grade professional mix of composted ingredients is made more efficient using the latest in soils technology. Space-aged materials are added to the soil to lengthen the watering cycle.

Nature Plus

The recycled soil, sold nationally in 1991, and the subject of Television, Newspaper, and Trade publication articles is made from nutrient-rich composted yard waste, pine bark and wood fines. Nature Plus is a high quality potting mixture which provides for healthier plants and a cleaner environment.

Womack products available nationwide at finer lawn & garden centers.

Quality Since 1947

ENVIRONMENTAL

PROGRAM HAS

REALLY GOTTEN

OFF THE GROUND.

Today, in Clarendon County near upper Lake Marion, Laidlaw Environmental's commitment to the lasting glory of the natural world is taking wing.

In partnership with the South Carolina Waterfowl Association, we have restored a clay mine to create a premier Wetland Wildlife Education Management Center. Specially designed to showcase waterfowl in their own habitat, it will provide children and adults with a unique chance to better understand the beauty and responsibility of the world around them. And as home to a Clemson University study of plant and animal life on bottom-land hardwood forest, the center is a model for corporate environmental responsibility.

For all that changes in this world, one thing is certain: Nature must endure. At Laidlaw Environmental, we're doing our part to make that happen. For our state. For our children. For everyone.

Vickery Hall

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment - giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson's Student-Athlete Enrichment Services (SAES), has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisers' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisers, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athlete Enrichment.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are in turn, connected to a world-wide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

The Dick Hendley Computer Room is one of many outstanding aspects of Vickery Hall, Clemson's state-of-the-art Academic Learning Center.

1994 Clemson Football

Today's Band Program

By Brenda Rabon

Today is a special day for many Clemson students as they are reunited with their parents for a brief weekend visit. For some students, it has been over a month since they have seen their parents and Parents' Day is an opportunity for students to spend some time with their families.

Many parents have the pleasure of seeing their children attend Clemson University as second and even third generation Tigers. A sense of pride is seen in the faces of these parents as they watch their children create their own memories of attending college. This gives these families opportunities to share memories with each other.

As parents invade Death Valley this weekend, some of them are introduced for the first time to the lifestyle their children live away from them. It proves to be an interesting weekend as parents experience their children's "home away from home."

Tiger Band highlights this special weekend with a special touch of Clemson spirit. Today, under the direction of Dr. Mark Hosler, Tiger Band will make its traditional sideline entrance with the sound of the famous "Sock It To 'Em/Tiger Rag." Excitement begins to be felt by all fans as the air of Memorial Stadium is filled with Tiger spirit.

Attention is then directed to the 25-yard line where Louise Shealy Long, Tiger Brotherhood's Mother-of-the-Year, will have the distinct honor of dotting the "i" as Tiger Band spells out "Tigers" in script.

Louise is the proud mother of four sons. Her sons Bill ('67), Bud ('68), and Terry ('70) all proudly wear the Clemson ring. Carroll Long attended Mars Hill College and later transferred to Erskine College to play basketball. In the Long family tradition, he earned his master's degree from Clemson in 1974. One of Louise's grandchildren, Mindy, is now attending Clemson with many more hopefully to come. Her children recognize her as, "the best Clemson supporter they know," and attribute their, "sense of duty and loyalty they all have for Clemson," as a gift from their mother.

Pregame festivities continue with one of John Phillip Sousa's most renowned marches, "Washington Post." The colors are presented by the Clemson University Pershing Rifles Company C4. Everyone then stands and joins Tiger Band to honor America in singing "God Bless America."

The invocation is delivered and the crowd is asked to join in the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of the National Anthem conducted by Clemson University Director of Bands, Dr. Richard Goodstein. Tiger Band then invites all to join in the singing of the Clemson University Alma Mater.

The band then plays "Sock It To 'Em/Tiger Rag" marching to the east end of Memorial Stadium to form the tunnel for the players to run through as the greatest stadium entrance in college sports begins. The cannon booms as the team rubs Howard's Rock and charges down the hill before a thrilled crowd in Death Valley.

Today's halftime show is entitled "Shine Down". Tiger Band presents some of the best of contemporary and traditional Gospel music. Music selections include: "Shine Down," "Jericho," "Kyrie Elieson," "Amazing Grace," and "When the Saints Go Marchin' In". This music is arranged especially for Tiger Band by Steve Pfaffman of Brandon, Florida.

The 26-member Tiger Band Flag Line is featured today. This is a select group of Clemson students. Auditions are held each fall for positions in the flag line. This year's Flag Captains are Stephanie Barnosky and Tonya Barnosky is in her first year as a Flag Captain and her third year as a Tiger Band Flag Line member. She is a native of Stafford, VA and a graduate of North Stafford High School. Stephanie is a junior majoring in graphic communications.

Sharp is also in her first year as a Flag Captain, but this is her second year as a Tiger Band Flag Line member. She is from Ladson, SC and a graduate of Stratford High School. Tonya is a junior majoring in accounting.

Tiger Band staff includes Dr. Mark Hosler, marching band director, Dr. Rick Goodstein, director of university bands, Cheryl Hosler, Flag Line Instructor, and Hazel Martin, Twirler Instructor.

Today as we honor the parents of Clemson students, Tiger Band continues a tradition of excellence in its performance on game day. It is an honor for Clemson University to be represented by such a dedicated group of individuals. As we salute Clemson parents today, let us also honor and thank Tiger Band for continuing the Clemson tradition of excellence. Welcome Clemson parents, we honor and respect you.

Clemson's 26-member flag line is an intricate part of every Tiger Band performance.

THE ATLANTIC COAST CONFERENCE AND UNITED WAY

The Atlantic Coast Conference and the United Way entered into an exciting partnership this past year. The new partnership provided the production of nine 30-second commercials which highlighted each Atlantic Coast Conference member institution's student-athlete volunteer involvement within their respective communities through United Way funded agencies.

The partnership provided free air time for the commercials to appear on Atlantic Coast Conference televised basketball games and can be seen this fall on many of the televised Atlantic Coast Conference football games. Within South Carolina media markets, over $2,000,000/year of free air time will be made available to continue with this promotion of the partnership. Production of the commercials was coordinated by the United Way of South Carolina, United Way of North Carolina, United Way of America and the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Current Clemson University football players Warren Forney, Dexter McCleon and Louis Solomon were featured in the local spot, along with members of the United Way funded Anderson Area Youth Association.

Today marks the annual kick-off of Clemson University's United Way Campaign. The campus slogan for this year's campaign is "Give a Dollar and Make a Difference." The University hopes to raise over $100,000 for the local United Way agencies.

Stay tuned to feel the excitement of the partnership between the Atlantic Coast Conference and the United Way!

1994 Clemson Football

Why some teams have a stronger bench than others.

Lady Tiger Volleyball

by Sam Blackman and Brett Sowell

Clemson's women's volleyball team has its eyes on another NCAA tournament bid.

The continuation of a milestone season is the main objective of the 1994 Clemson volleyball squad.

The 1993 volleyball season was the first year for Head Coach Jolene Hoover, but it was the first time the Lady Tigers had reached the NCAA tournament, and it set a standard for ACC wins (10).

With all six starters returning, Clemson looks well on its way of continuing the milestone. Clemson opened the season winning 12 straight matches, and without losing a game in the first 10.

Coach Hoover and her team have set some pretty lofty goals for the 1994 campaign, but none that are unrealistic. "Our top priority is to win the ACC. We feel as though this is a realistic challenge for us. Although, by no means will this be easy. The ACC is a highly credible conference with four of the eight teams receiving bids to post-season play last year. Since we made it to the NCAA Tournament last season, we feel as if we can return and go farther than the first round," Hoover said.

Beyond the ACC title Clemson would like to return to the NCAA tournament and move well into the tournament field this year. "Going to the NCAA Tournament was worth a great deal because we gained the experience of post-season play. We want this to be an every year occurrence. Last season, we were happy to receive a bid, but I think this year, the players want more than just to qualify for the NCAA Tournament. We have four seniors whose goals are to go beyond just qualifying for the tournament. Last season we earned respect, and we gained more confidence and security."

Coach Hoover has a lot of confidence in her club. With six returning starters this season, this may be the Lady Tigers best team ever. "We are a very athletic team. Our confidence definitely has improved. We are not an extremely tall team, but we are very quick. We worked hard at trying to become more physical at the net in the spring workouts.

"The more physical we are at the net, the better we will be as a team. We worked hard in the weight room and with conditioning. We improved our jumps one and one-half to four inches this past spring.

"The strongest point about our team is our ball control and defense, which enables us to be successful offensively. Since we have good ball control, we can move the ball around more and create options on our offense."

So far this season the Lady Tigers have lived up to expectations. Clemson opened the season in the UT-Arlington Tournament. The Lady Tigers defeated host UT-Arlington, San Diego State, and Mississippi to win the tournament title. Senior Robin Kibben was named tournament MVP, and senior Heather Kahl and sophomore Julie Rodriguez were named to the all-tournament team.

After defeating UNC-Asheville in Clemson's home opener, the Lady Tigers won four matches to win the Big Orange Bash. Once again Robin Kibben was tournament MVP, her sixth MVP award in a regular season tournament during her career. Kahl and Rodriguez were named to the all-tournament team.

En route to 10 straight match victories the Lady Tigers didn't lose a game. The 30 consecutive games won is a Clemson record for consecutive opening season games won. It is second for number of consecutive games won during the season, as the 1992 squad recorded 36 consecutive game victories.

Kibben, a Lake Worth, FL product, has been pacing the team this season. She was named to the All-ACC team in 1992 and 1993 and looks to be headed to the honor again. The middle hitter was named ACC Player-of-the-Week on September 12th. Last season, Kibben became the Lady Tigers' all-time leader for most kills in a season with 602, and best hitting pct. with a .354 mark.

"Kibben is our franchise player, as everyone knows. She is the most level-headed, modest person I have ever worked with. She is a total team player and she will do anything to help the team. She is not in it for herself. She wants the team to win more than anything else. Robin is a tremendous all-around player and will be a candidate for ACC Player-of-the-Year honors. She is a strong player offensively and defensively. Robin is a solid passer and has good court sense. With her great attitude, you could not find a more complete package."

The team has also been helped by the steady play of Kahl. The setter is looking to add to her already stellar career statistics. She led the team with 1,420 set assists or 11.93 assists per game (both all-time Clemson single-season records). She was also second on the squad with 355 defensive saves. Kahl is second on the Clemson career list for most set assists with 2,202 and could become the all-time leader with 1,489 this season.

"Last year was the first season for Heather to run the team. In her first two seasons, she had been splitting playing time. She is a strong athlete, probably the best athlete on the team. We expect her to do another good job this season as she grew so much last season with experience. We will also see a great deal of leadership from her this season," Hoover adds.

Clemson has returned four players to the outside hitter position, including 1993 ACC Rookie-of-the-Year Julie Rodriguez.

Rodriguez broke Clemson freshman class records for most attempts (1,042) and most kills (384) in 1993. The native of Country Club Hills, IL was second on the team with 3.37 kills per game and a .266 hitting pct.

"Julie is a tremendous person and player. She was one of our biggest assets last year as a first-year freshman. She is a steady player and the best word that I can use for her is "solid". She is a strong offensive player as well as a great defensive player. Julie is very level-headed in her play."

Clemson looks ready to once again move the program up another level. The Lady Tigers have a good balance of leadership and talent to make another NCAA tournament appearance.

Kibben is an ACC MVP candidate

Bob Smith

by Bob Bradley

He had the three most common names in the English language—Robert William Smith. And he and a fellow coach, whose name was just about as popular, nearly got tossed off of a commercial airplane 30 or 40 years ago because of it.

Back then the stewardess would come down the aisle before takeoff and record each person's name. When she got to the two coaches and asked for the desired information, one said 'Bob Smith' and the other said 'Bob Jones'.

Jones, a member of the Clemson staff for 44 years, and Smith were returning from scouting a future Clemson opponent, something you can't do anymore. On the return trip from the scouting assignment their identification was questioned. Both coaches could usually poker face their way through most situations, but not this one.

After about the third attempt by the stewardess to get away from this Smith and Jones routine, it was becoming rather comical to the two coaches. But it was far from funny to the stewardess. And, knowing the pair as I did, they weren't helping matters. I can hear Jones calling her 'Sugar', as he did all pretty women, and as bull-headed as Smith could be, he was not solving the problem, but continuing to create it.

Finally, it was time for the plane to depart and only some type of official identification would be sufficient to satisfy the stewardess. This was provided and sure enough, Bob Smith and Bob Jones were legal in every respect and the plane finally left for its destination.

Smith came to Clemson in 1950 to assist

Bob Smith was a Clemson Hall of Famer whose 28 years of service had a significant impact in all phases of coaching and administration on Clemson athletes.

Coach Frank Howard's Tigers in preparation for the T-formations the Tigers were going to face. Many teams were changing to that formation and Smith had experience in that area. However, the position was temporary until the Clemson coaches could catch on. But, in 1952, when Howard decided to install the 'T' at Clemson, Smith was on staff full time and assisted with the formation change.

Smith's reputation went back to his Furman days. Smith was a four-sport star in college, including all-state in two sports. He was named "greatest all-around back in South Carolina" his senior year, 1934, when he graduated with a BS degree in economics.

Smith is one of the few people in history to be a member of both the Clemson and Furman Halls of Fame.

After graduation by then athletic director and head football coach A.P. "Dizzy" McLeod decided to keep Smith on staff as the head basketball coach and the football backfield coach.

Howard used to say that McLeod was way ahead of his time with some of his innovations. Jack Curtice generally is given credit for using the short underhand forward pass known today as the "Utah Pass", but McLeod and Smith were using this at Furman in the late 1930s and Curtice came on in the 1950s.

Smith was given the task of reviving the Furman program in 1946 after four years of inactivity because of World War II. He was hardly given a chance. After two losing seasons he was sent packing. Disappointed at his quick release, Smith went into private business manufacturing baseball bats...until the call came from Howard in 1950.

After a couple of years working with the football program, Howard, who was also athletic director, handed Smith the baseball coaching reins. And, in 1952, Smith had a freshman lefthander named Billy O'Dell, who began mowing batters down from both sides of the plate. In 1954, the initial baseball season in the ACC, O'Dell, with his 0.79 ERA, carried the Tigers to the first league championship. Smith was named the first ever ACC Coach of the Year.

Smith, like Walter Cox before him, was missing an awful lot of spring football because of his baseball responsibilities. That is why in 1957 Howard hired Bill Wilhelm to replace Smith on the diamond.

Don Wade joined the coaching staff in 1953 and soon had Smith interested in fishing and hunting. One morning during the baseball season with a home game on tap that afternoon, Wade and Smith went out to a nearby farm pond where Wade pulled out a 5-6 pound large-mouth bass. This set Smith on fire. He vowed not to leave until he caught a fish of equal proportion.

Wade reminded his partner a half dozen times of his impending game, but Smith continued to cast—with no luck. Finally, Smith gave up and Wade still isn't sure if Smith got back for the first pitch of that baseball game.

In 1969 when Howard retired as head coach, Smith started his 'second career' with the athletic department, managing its buildings and grounds. This really wasn't anything new to the former Furman star because he was a champion piddler at home. This would just be on a larger scale.

Smith had charge of Littlejohn Coliseum, which was first occupied in 1968. Then, the Jervy Athletic Center was built in 1974, and there were acres of untapped bottom land that could be turned into athletic facilities following the construction of two dikes which held back the waters of Lake Hartwell.

Three practice fields, a soccer practice field, the nine-lane all-weather track, cross country course, and the development of Jervy Meadows and the landscaping of the old Seneca River bed all became a reality through efforts mainly put forth by Smith in his post-coaching days. These will be enjoyed by students and alumni for years to come.

Smith passed away four weeks ago this coming Monday. You won't find his name on any facilities in the athletic department, but the touch of Bob Smith is there—everywhere.

Smith is a member of both the Clemson and Furman Halls of Fame.
